MADURA.

A District in the Madras Presidency, is bounded on the North by Coimbatore, Trichinopoly and Tanjore on the East and South-east by Ramanathapuram, on the South-west by Tirunelveli, and on the West by the Travancore State. Area, 4,907 square miles. Population, 8,607,083. Languages.—Tamil, Telugu and Hindustani. The Hill-station Kodakanal (q.v.) is in this District.

GENERAL.—Isolated hills and masses of rock scattered over the district. The most important of these is the Palni or Varkas mountains. A few miles north-east of the Palni range begins an irregular series of hills known as the Sirumalais, Karanthamalais, the Nattam and Alagar hills. These hills are low sterile and uninhabitable on account of the Malignant fever which links on their slopes and the only mass which is at all considerable and lofty is the Sirumalais which have an extreme length of 50 miles and reach to 4,000 feet. The Vaigai is the principal river of the district. Madura (128 804) the chief town is on the Vaigai and is a municipality constituted in 18-5. Dindigul (39,822) is another municipality with an old fort. Palni (17 601) is a municipality and place of pilgrimage. Kodakanal is the chief hill station and a sanatorium.

CLIMATE.—Hot, dry and rainless. Taking the District as a whole the climate is not considered healthy. Epidemic outbreaks of cholera are common.

RAINFALL.—Average about 32 inches.

AGRICULTURE.—About 75 per cent. of the total area under cultivation is devoted to the production of food grains of which cereals occupy 80 per cent. and pulses 10 per cent. Paddy, cholam, munga, ragi and varagu are the chief crops among cereals. The extent under fruit trees and vegetables is largest in Dindigul and Kodakanal. Plantains, cardamoms, garlic and coffee are the chief products of commercial importance on the hills. Among the industrial crops the foremost is cotton, the area cultivated being 150,545 acres. Tobacco and silks are also cultivated.

POPULATION.—The Kallar Reclamation Scheme has done much to improve this community.

INDUSTRY.—Weaving and dyeing are largely carried on in Madura town. Copper and brass vessels are also manufactured. Cigars and ball metal are manufactured at Dindigul. There are several cotton mills. The Periyar Project is expected to benefit the district. There are 8 948 loans in the district of which 2,688 are in Madura Town and 3,259 in Dindigul. There is a Government Technical Institute at Madura.

TOWNS.—Dindigul, Kodakanal, Madura, Melur, Nilakottai, Palni, Periyakulam and Tirumangalam.

KODAIKANAL (PULNEY HILLS)

The Pulney Hills are situated in the Madurai District of the Madras Presidency. They are about 56 miles long from East to West and 14 miles broad. Including Annimalai, Alcy cover 798 square miles. The plateau has an average elevation of about 7,000 feet. Like the Nigiria and the Shevaraya, the Pulneys consist of a mass of the charophite series, and the general scenery is characteristic of this class of rocks. The Pulneys are connected towards the north-west with the Anaimalais and towards the south with the Travancore hills.

The European settlement, KODAIKANAL, which was a very small place twenty five years ago, now contains over 350 Bungalows (European and Indian), European houses scattered over an area of about 4 square miles besides a number of Indian bungalows. There are native villages outside the drainage area of the lake containing 354 huts with a population of about 4,000. This settlement in 1899 was made a Municipality to the great advantage of the station, as regards sanitation and roads. The lake, which forms the centre of the original settlement, is formed by an artificial bund erected by the late Sir Vers Loring and covers an area of 66 acres. Its height above sea-level is 5,372 feet. There is a flourishing Boat Club with a number of good boats. The lake is well-stocked with barril (Barrilus gutturalis) which take a fly readily. The Club which is centrally situated, is an excellent one.

In former days considerable difficulty was experienced in getting supplies at Kodaikanal, but this is no longer the case. There are now shops with a flourishing Co-operative stores with Retail stores at moderate prices, beef and mutton butchers are numerous, and excellent vegetables can be obtained all through the season. Almost all the houses in the station can now be reached by driving roads, though some of them are, naturally, rather steep. There are also driving roads to Neutral Saddle, 7 miles away at the foot of Perumal (7,886 feet) where there are a few huts at an elevation of about 5,300 feet to the 'Pillar Rocks,' one of the finest pieces of scenery in South India and towards Pambai, a hill village 8 miles distant. Bridle paths permit of riding excursions in many other directions.

The climate of Kodaikanal is probably the best of any hill station in India. This at least was the opinion of the meteorological authorities when they fixed upon it as the site of the new solar Physics Observatory which forms a conspicuous object on the top of Nadisingapuram hill. The only meteorological statistics available are those published in the Annual Reports of the Observatory for 1899-1900 and 1904-1905, and they are for a place nearly 800 feet above the lake. The highest shade temperature recorded was 74° in March, the lowest 40° in November. In low lying places, especially near the lake, frost is not uncommon in the early mornings between November and February. The mean monthly temperatures varied only from 55° in November to 59° in May. One of the most striking features of the climate is the extreme dryness of the atmosphere during the early months of the year. Though the annual rainfall is about 60 inches, the subsoil is so porous that even during the monsoon, water never lies on the ground for any time, so muddy roads are practically unknown. During the south west monsoon, winds are strong in exposed places, but the lake basin is so well sheltered that this causes little inconvenience.

The usual way of coming to Kodaikanal is by rail to Kodaikanal Road Station, S. I. R., where there is a Refreshment Room and a good Travellers bungalow. Thence by Motor Service, by Book transit or by Jukka to the Top bungalow at the foot of the giant (53 miles), where meals can be obtained if previous notice has been sent thence to the top—a distance of 12 miles—the journey may be made on ponies or in chairs or dhoolies. The great road to Kodaikanal was opened to the public from the beginning of 1915. It is 80 miles long and starts from the road to Periyakulam near Gangavapatti village, 15 miles from the Railway Station. Cars, Motor Cars and Cycles are using the road. It is safer for visitors to use the latter vehicles as carts do not traverse the fever zone quickly. The Pulney Motor Service, The London Motor Service, The General Motor Service, and some other smaller agencies provide cars and buses at reasonable rates and they have their Agents here. Single seats can also be booked when available. Horses and luggage may be sent up by motor droms provided by this company. There are some private boarding houses in the station, but as these are generally well filled during the season, no visitor should risk coming to it without making arrangements beforehand. There is also a Hotel which is conducted by F. & Gregory. Stores and luggage may be sent from Kodaikanal Road Station by common carts, always waiting, at reasonable rates, and are carried up the hills at a charge of 12 annas for 50 lbs. The wage of each bearer carrying a chair or dhooly is Re. 1, and the hire for riding ponies is two rupees to the six mile stage, Re. 3-6 to Shevaraya and one rupee to Kodaikanal, or Neutral Saddle whether one or two ponies are supplied for the journey.

CARRYING AND FORWARDING AGENTS.—General Motor Service, London Motor Service and Pulney Motor Service.

These concerns have branches at the Kodaikanal Road Station and Kodaikanal.

NELLORE.

Description—A district on the Eastern or Coromandel Coast, lying between 80° 25 and 13° 36' N Lat and between 79° 9' and 80° 14' E Long. On the east it is washed by the Bay of Bengal, its western boundary is formed by the Eastern Ghats which separate it from the districts of Kurnool and Cuddapah, north it is bordered by Guntur District, south by North Arcot and Chingleput. Estimated total area, 1,978 square miles; total population, according to the Census (of 1931) 1,365,558

Physical Geography—This District occupies a tract of low land stretching from the base of the Eastern Ghats to the sea. Its general aspect is forbidding. The coast line is uniformly a fringe of blown sand, through which the waves occasionally break and spread a salt sterility over the fields. Farther inland, the country begins to rise. But the soil is not naturally fertile nor are means of irrigation readily at hand except in Nellore taluk. Scarcely half of the total area is cultivated. The rest is either a rocky waste or covered with dense scrub jungle. The finest trees are to be found in the neighbourhood of the village sites. Along the western frontier rises a barren range of mountains, which throws out numerous spurs into the plain. A remarkable natural feature is the island of Sriharikota, a low ridge of sand which divides the Lake of Pulicat from the main coast. Inhabited chiefly by scattered families of the wild tribe of Yanadias, most of it has never been brought under cultivation; but Madras is supplied with fuel from this otherwise unprofitable waste. The chief rivers of Nellore are the Pennar and the Swarnamukhi which rise in the table-land above the Ghats and flow east to the sea. The numerous minor streams are little more than mountain torrents. The Pennar runs through the district for a total course of about 70 miles, passing by the town of Nellore. For nine months of the year its bed, which is rocky among the hills but sandy lower down, is almost dry with deep pools here and there, in which fish collect. One season of flood (fall or partial) lasts for about 60 days. When the stream is at its highest, the volume of water is 600 yards wide and 80 feet deep, filling the bed from bank to bank. The chief irrigation works on the Pennar are the aineti at Nellore town from which numerous channels are led off on the south bank and an ancient made at Bangana, a place 18 miles west of Nellore, and which irrigates land north of the river. The floods of the Swarnamukhi also supply a series of irrigation channels. The bordering range of the Eastern Ghats rises in its highest peak Penakalukonda, to an elevation of about 3,800 feet above sea level. Detached from this range is the isolated hill or droog of Udayagiri (3,978 feet) which was formerly an important rock for iron. Throughout the district generally, the underlying rocks belong to the metamorphic series, which occasionally crops up in the form of quartz, schist and granite, and is intersected by veins of quartz and volcanic rocks. The Eastern Ghats, on the other hand, are capped by a series of sedimentary formation, chiefly altered sandstone and slate known as the "Cuddapah

"AMRUTANJAN" has worked Miracles for 3 Generations.

"Group" Organic remains of fossils have been found in several places. A band of laterite, varying greatly in width, extends almost continuously along the coast, and is largely quarried for building materials. Copper was discovered in the north-eastern corner of Udayagiri tank in 1801. The ore was found on a mass to yield a large percentage of metal, and European capital was attracted to the spot. But the enterprise has repeatedly proved unsuccessful, and no fresh attempt has been made since 1840. Salt-petre is made in a few villages, by refining down the nitrous earth to be found on the surface. Mica is worked in the south of the district. Wild animals are comparatively rare. Tigers are almost unknown, except when a stray one wanders across the mountains from Qudnapah. Leopards, bears, sambar, deer and occasionally bison, are still found among the western hills. Antelope spotted deer, and wild hog are generally distributed, while the small game comprises snipe, duck, bustard and florican.

NILGIRIS (THE)

The boundaries of the district are: North, Mysore, South, Malabar and Coimbatore; East, Coimbatore West, Malabar Area 1,000 square miles Population, 118,518. Languages are Toda, Kota and Badaga spoken by the indigenous tribes, and Canarese Tamil and Malayalam are in common use

Geographical position—The Nilgiri District—as it existed prior to the annexation on the 31st March 1877 of the tracts known as the Nambalakód, Oheramkód and Munnad Amshoms, before then part of the Wynnad Taluk of Malabar—lies between latitude $11^{\circ} 8'$ and $11^{\circ} 87'$ north and longitude $76^{\circ} 27'$ and $77^{\circ} 4'$ east. Within these limits rise the Nilgiri Hills, a vast mountain block, comprising two more or less distinct hill ranges, usually known as the Nilgiris Proper and the Kandas. Apart from the Kunda and Nidumalé ranges, the surface of the Nilgiris is divided into an upper and lower plateau. The lower forming an irregular shelf rests upon the north-eastern and southern slopes of the Doddabetta, or great central range, and its offshoots, including the north-east angle of the plateau, sometimes, though without sufficient reason, called the Kotagiri range. The higher plateau, known amongst the aborigines as the 'Mál' or upland and comprises the tract lying between the western slopes of Doddabetta and the Nidumale and Kanda ranges. The average elevation of this higher plateau above the lower may be roughly stated at from 1,000 to 1,500 feet.

Waterfalls are numerous and picturesque, though not of great depth or volume. The highest is Kolakambe, north of the hill of that name having an unbroken fall of about 400 feet. Second to this is St. Catherine's Fall (250 feet) in a stream south of Kotagiri. Then follows the lower Fall of Paikara (200 feet) and after it the upper (180 feet). Of nearly the same height is the Kallhatti Fall (170 feet) on the Sagar Pass.

Lakes—There are no natural lakes in the plateau but art has attempted to supply in Ootacamund the defects of nature, for there are some artificial lakes or reservoirs formed by banking up streams at narrow parts of the valleys. The most important is the Ootacamund lake a marked feature in the station, and one which adds greatly to its beauty. Its form is serpentine, the bend being caused by the projecting spur of the hills on either side. Its length is about two miles and a half, breadth from three to four hundred yards. A road follows the windings of its banks throughout and forms the principal drive of the station being nearly five miles long.

Scenery—The interior of the plateau consists chiefly of grassy undulating hills divided by narrow valleys, which invariably contain a stream or a swamp. In the hollows of the hill-sides nestle small beautiful woods locally known as sholas. It is seldom that so much variety of beauty is found in so small a compass. Let a visitor take a short ride in almost any direction from almost any part of the plateau, and passing along shady English looking lanes sheltered by thickets of blackberry and will rose; across bare breezy downs sometimes dotted with twisted crimson flowering rhododendron and intersected by swampy valleys, where buffaloes wade and wallow, through dense woods carpeted with rare ferns and gorgeous in spring tints, beside which the colouring of an English autumn is faint and dull, by native villages with their patches of cultivation and their magnificent single trees, he will find himself on some ridge or promontory, looking straight down from 4,000 to 5,000 feet, on to a scene that changes like the figures in a kaleidoscope. In the morning a sea of clouds lies at his feet and gradually rises round him. In the afternoon this clears away, and reveals perhaps a vast crimson plain, veined by dark lines of wood, dotted with isolated hummocks like giant ant-hills and terminating in faint blue lines of mountains, the farthest of which seems to hang half way up the sky; perhaps on a tumbled mass of hills and valleys, a perfect dissolving view, for the eye has hardly traced the outline of some rocky ridge, glowing red in the sun light, before a blue-cloud shadow blots it out, and a fresh series of crests and ravines start into sight beyond. Broken peaks, hung with wood frame the picture, and on all sides lies tropical sunlight intensified by the keen thin mountain air. The hills are full of peaks with paths leading up to the top, made for the convenience of visitors. The scenery from these tops is simply delightful and the air refreshing and invigorating. The most important of these is the Mukuri Peak situated about $17\frac{1}{2}$ miles west of Ootacamund.

“AMRUTANJAN” found “Best” by Test

The climate of the other climates of the Nilgiri Hills—Each hill and valley seems to vary according to its exposure to the monsoon, its elevation, or other local causes—may be generally described as for the greater part of the year dry, bracing and exhilarating, and more equable than those of Europe; the maximum range of the thermometer being only from 8 to 9 degrees at Ootacamund, and from 15 to 15 degrees at Wellington throughout the year. In the middle of the day as against 38 degrees in London. December and January are frosty months the wind is keen and the sky beautifully blue. This is the unhealthy season. Water cakes into thin layer ice in the winter. South west monsoon—During the south west monsoon which usually prevails until the end of September, much rain falls, and the air is generally saturated with moisture. The hills are quickly covered with luxuriant grasses and the forest trees put forth their fresh leaves. During August and September break, as they are called, occur. The mists clear off, and the sun shines forth for several days successively. The scenery, usually beautiful, is now surpassingly so. The undulating ground of the whole plateau being clothed with verdure of peculiar richness. This is usually considered to be the healthiest time of the year and Europeans who have resided for any length of time upon the Hills and judge the climate by experience invariably prefer the rainy season to any other. North east monsoon—This begins about the middle of October and generally opens with vivid flashes of lightning and rattling peals of thunder, accompanied with heavy rain. There are breaks now and again but rain is heavy. The wind occasionally becomes frosty and heavy fogs occur especially in November.

Causes of illness which derive no benefit from a change to the Hill climate—On the Nilgiri table-land we have a climate essentially temperate, and one which experience tells us is capable of conferring the greatest benefit in suitable cases. The cool refreshing breezes together with the lovely mountain scenery and relaxation from work combine to effect an improvement in the health of those who have been exposed for any length of time to the enervating influences of the plains. For the following classes the climate will be found unquestionably most suitable and invigorating. Young people of weakly constitution who have broken down through overwork in a tropical climate or who from having come out to India before their constitution may be said to have been properly formed, and in consequence have been reduced to a state of general debility after their arrival in the country. Older persons who by reason of a prolonged residence on the plains without change or who after suffering from some slight illness have been troubled with dyspepsia, nervous debility, mental depression or loss of appetite and who in consequence feel an inability to perform their accustomed duties. These are the cases which derive the most permanent benefit from a residence on the Hills. It is presumed that in the above cases there is freedom from all structural disease. Convalescence from many of the more trivial diseases to which Europeans are subject on the plains is generally hastened by a residence on these hills attention being paid to the selection of a station for such cases in accordance with the age and state of the patient and the season of the year. The hills are the place for consumptives, or those suffering from asthma, fevers, chronic diarrhoea, dysentery and liver

OOTACAMUND

OOTACAMUND, the Queen of Hill Stations, the chief town of the Nilgiri Dt., the principal sanitarium of India, the summer head quarters of the Madras Govt. occupies the western slope of the Doddabetta mountain range. The town proper lies within the basin formed by two spurs of the Doddabetta mountain, the highest point of the southern being Elk Hill and that of the northern the Club Hill. (Owing to its peculiar features Ootacamund is much exposed to the westerly winds, but is well protected upon the north and east. The bottom of the Ootacamund basin has been converted into an artificial lake some two miles in length and one third of a mile in width by throwing a dam across the main stream at a narrow pass where it issues from the central valley. The western lake is famous in form. Upon the hills which surround it more or less concealed by woods of eucalyptus, acacia, cypress and pine stand some of the best private residences in the town. On a fore-land of its southern bank stands the Chmroh of St. Thomas, a Gothic building and opposite to this on the north bank Ootacamund Railway Station. Though at a greater distance from the lake the Roman Catholic Church is dedicated to the Blessed Virgin. The upper lake an valuable piece of water much contaminated by the drainage of the native town or bazaar which lies on the northern bank has been reclaimed lately and is now utilized as a Gymkhana ground and Race course. Round the margin of the whole lake runs a wide carriage drive. The marsh at the head, or eastern extremity of the lake has been reclaimed levelled and forms a park known as the Hobart Park well used for purposes of public recreation. The area including the land lying on the northern and southern margins of the lake as far as the Willow Bund is about thirty acres opposite to this at the eastern extremity of the native bazaar stands the Hobart School for native girls. To the east is the public market. On the slope of the hill behind the market is the Police lines and station and above these ranges of buildings St. Bartholomew's Hospital behind which, on the top of the ridge are the jail buildings now used by the Taluk and Sub-Registrar's Offices, office and as by the Indian Defence Force for their Armoury and Recreation room. At a short distance to the east, on the same spur, is the Public Library and opposite to it the Post Office. A little further on are the public offices of the district and lower down the Breake's Memorial School. Nearest to the hill stands the Church of St. Stephen the old station church and opposite its gates, the church and school of the Church Missionary Society's Indian Christians. The sides of the hill to the east and west of St. Stephen's are thickly studded with houses and cottages, including westward the Club House and the principal hotels, and eastward the Assembly Rooms. Looking to the east from St. Stephen's, but at a much lower elevation on the western extremity of a minor spur of Doddabetta, stands "Stonehouse" which contains the Council Chamber and the offices of the Madras Secretariat. In the hollows and on the spurs of Doddabetta to the north and south of Stonehouse are many residences. The lands on these slopes are generally very fertile and well watered and for this reason a considerable and yearly extending area is cultivated as garden land. In a steep ravine, about half a mile to the north of "Stonehouse" are the Public Gardens and the Todah "tank," from which Ootacamund takes its name. Above the Public Gardens stretching across the Dodabetta saddle, is the Government Canebush plantation. On the northern shoulder of the ravine, adjoining the Public Gardens, lies the hill residence of the Governor, backed by a fine wood of eucalyptus on the side of the Snowdon mountain. From the foot of Stonehouse, towards the south runs the highway to Coonor disappearing in the deep cutting which separates Elk Hill from the Dodabetta range. This is a simple description of the main valley but the limits of the station lie far beyond it and include two other important valleys: to the south and parallel with it, Lovedale, with its picturesque lake, above which stand the extensive storied buildings of the Lawrence Memorial School (founded 1865); to the north the valley and Marthand which opens out towards the head of the Begoor Pass. Between the Ootacamund and the Marthand valleys is a hollow across the outlet of which a dam has been thrown forming the Marthand reservoir from which, through cast iron pipes, nearly three miles in length, the northern portion of Ootacamund is supplied with water. The house occupied by Europeans in the station have often five or six acres of land attached and many have from twenty to seventy acres. In the chief native bazaar on the border of the lake, some eight thousand persons are congregated, and perhaps half of the number again in Kandal a bazaar in a small valley to the west of the station. But a large number of Indians have their homes in scattered hamlets chiefly in the eastern portions of the station. The inhabitants of these hamlets are chiefly Canarese with a sprinkling of Tamils. There is no Badaga village within municipal limits, and only three or four Toda munda or villages.

LOYDALE

LOYDALE is three miles from Ootacamund on the summit and centre of the Nilgiri Hills. It is now in the Ootacamund Municipal area. It lies between the 11th and 12th degrees of North Latitude and the 76th and 77th degrees of East Longitude in the confines of Combarator and Malabar, at an elevation of 7,330 feet above the main level of the sea, being 1,513 feet below Dodabetta and 103 feet above the Lake at Ootacamund and 1,470 feet above the Barracks at Wellington. The mean annual temperature at Lovedale is 58°, the mean maximum is 68°, the mean minimum is 48°, the mean annual range 18°. On or near the ground however, water often freezes during the winter months. Chinna Dodabetta is in Lovedale and at its foot there is the Asylum Reservoir. The Lawrence Memorial School buildings and ground cover an area of 740 76 acres. Close by eastwards is Keti Valley occupied by Badagas.

COONOR

An ideal resort for those about to retire

COONOR is the alternative sanitarium with Ootacamund on the Nilgiris, and being in a more sheltered position is sometimes preferred. Its position is lat 11° 30' N. and long 76° 50' E. and is at a distance 300 miles from Madras and 18 from Ootacamund. The scenery of Coonor differs very greatly from that of Ootacamund its vegetation is semi-tropical the contour of the hills is bold, and the colouring of the scenery bright and warm. On the other hand the vegetation of Ootacamund is rather that of the Temperate Zones, its hill lines are unbroken and undulating and the colouring of the landscape cool and grey. The climate of Coonor is not severe or very cold and it well supplies the need of those require a pleasant holiday. A fair amount of fairly large game can be had in the summary hills. The mean annual temperature in the shade at Coonor is 65° F. In the warmer months, the thermometer fluctuates between 65° and 70° F. in the colder months 38° and 68° F. The average annual rainfall is 76 inches. The rate of mortality is remarkably low. The height of All Saints' Church above sea level is 5,864 feet that of the Coonor bridge about 5,800 feet. Most of the houses occupied by Europeans are between 5,700 and 6,000 feet above sea-level. Coonor peak however, is 6,893 feet above sea level, or only 800 feet below the level of the Ootacamund lake. Coonor lies at the head of the ravine and pass which bears its name.

The native town spreads over the lower slopes of the spurs of two hills, which terminate in a wedge-like promontory where the united waters of three streams break over the edge of the ghat and are precipitated down the gorge under the name of the Coonor river finally joining the Kaveri river. The three streams are crossed by three bridges. On an eminence on the western spur stands the Protestant Mission Chapel and on the eastern the Roman Catholic Church below the latter is the market. The Road to Upper Coonor passes up the ridge and thence round the head of the valley, and along the wooded ridge which encloses it on the east and south. On this ridge stands the Coonor Church dedicated to All Saints, with a lofty square tower. The Church is surrounded by a grave-yard planted with exotic trees and flowers. To the east of this ridge is a ravine separating it from Tiger Hill, round which winds Lord Robert's road, passing into the road to Lamb's Rock, Lady Canning's seat, and the Dolphin's Nose, some five miles eastward of Coonor above the Kotagiri gorge. Below this road stretching away to the east as far as the eye can see, are the Combarator and the Salom plains, the ancient Coorg country northwards the Bilgherryrangam Hills and the ranges when mark the line of the Balaghat country, whilst south and westwards is the Coonor pass walled in on the south by the "Koonildurg," which is backed by the Lamton's Peak range south of the Bhavany river and by the distant Anamulley mountains.

"AMRUTANJAN" obtainable everywhere.

Behind the hill on which the Church stands, is another valley one of the ravines on the western side of the Coonoor peak, along which runs the road to Kotagiri. This valley has been formed into a garden named Sun's Park, after Mr J D Sun, a late Member of the Madras Council. It is an extension of the deep ravine which divides Coonoor from Wellington, and the upper portion of which has been converted into a race-course, unrivalled by any in India for the picturesque and beauty of its position. The drainage of this valley forms the middle stream of Coonoor which meets the other streams at the old Coonoor bridge. This bridge is the central point of the Coonoor road system. Here the old and new ghost roads meet and from it along the right bank of the western stream as far as the Wellington bazaar, runs the main road to Ootacamund. Above this road to the left is the Taxidermist's Office, Sub Magistrate's Court, the Police Station and Police lines. The old court building have recently been dismantled and rebuilt on a more extensive plan, and a few private residences and below it the Railway Station. The Nilgiri Railway was opened in 1899 from Mettupalayam to Coonoor the line being on the rack rail system from the foot of the hills. This railway has been purchased by Government. A continuation of the line from Coonoor to Ootacamund was completed and the train service began in 1908. A piped water supply scheme for the town of Coonoor its suburbs was completed in July 1920. A Pastoral Institute for the Madras Presidency has been built in Coonoor near Sun's Park. Three miles up the old Ootacamund road is situated the Government Cordite Factory worked by electric power obtained from the Kariy Falls.

Coonoor is well served as far as pleasures and shopping are concerned. Spencer & Co. Ltd., practically meet all requirements for visitors and residents. A very large Cinema Theatre centrally situated has three shows a week. An excellent Library meets all the requirements of the Book worm being well up to date and fully stocked. The Coonoor Club with its large and commodious buildings provides all the comforts of a Club life with numerous Tennis Courts, Badminton and Squash Courts and spacious grounds makes it an ideal club for those who require strenuous life while on a holiday. The Club has its own electric lighting.

KOTAGIRI

A Hill Station and division of the Coonoor Taluk. Lat. $11^{\circ}34'$ Long $76^{\circ}04'$ Distance, 18 miles N of Ootacamund 17 miles N E of Coonoor and 31 miles N of Mettupalayam. Elevation 6000 feet. Rainfall average, 70 inches (chief monsoon N E). Languages—Tamil Badaga Kotas Toda and Irula.

KOTAGIRI or Kotosherry as it was formerly called is 18 miles from the foot of the Nilgiris and 6500 feet above the level of the sea. It is situated in North latitude $11^{\circ}19'$. The first English settlers went to Kotagiri which is still considered as possessing a better climate for invalids than Ootacamund or Coonoor. It is chiefly occupied by planters and is so called from the Kotas who have a village in it. The Kotas are a dirty lot. They live on carrion and their persons and huts are squalid and filthy. They are mostly blacksmiths by profession. Kotagiri produces tea coffee and oranges of superior kind in abundance. Potatoes Peas Apples and other fruit form an inconvertible supply during July August and September. Roman Catholic Mission has established churches and schools there and is doing quiet but useful work. St. Luke's Church was recently built and dedicated. Rector: Chaplain—Rev. A. W. Arkwith M.A.

WELLINGTON

The station of Wellington which is the Convalescent Depot for the British troops in the Madras Presidency is in the Merkanad Division of the Nilgiri District and lies in latitude $11^{\circ}5'$ north and longitude $76^{\circ}0'$ east with a native population of 7,000. It is 6100 feet above the level of the sea situated on a spur running to the south east from the Dodabetta or middle range of mountains is well sheltered only partially exposed to the monsoons and well adapted for sanitarium. It is bounded on the north by the Dodabetta mountain which is 8780 feet above sea level and is sheltered by it partially from the south west monsoon on the south by Coonoor two miles distant from which it is separated by a deep ravine on the east by Kotagiri 18 miles distant and on the west by a spur of the Dodabetta range stretching towards Katteri. There is a Convalescent Depot which is now called the Furlough Recreation Camp and a convalescent enticement depot at Hut Barracks besides Rifle Range Camp and bazaar Hill Camp. Both of these Camps have now been considerably improved upon special accommodation being built for married families of all Military details in the Southern Command. The Lancashire Fusiliers (80) and Battalion are located in the main Barracks from March 1927.

Climate and its influence on health—The climate at Wellington although only 11 degrees from the equator is most salubrious temperate and invigorating. The thermometer seldom rises in the shade above 75 degrees and the days throughout the cold months are clear and bracing. The mornings are always refreshing and if the character and time of the setting in of the south west monsoon is regular, the months of the middle part of the year are pleasant and healthy.

“AMRUTANJAN” All substituted are Worthless

The soil in and about Wellington is of a rich red ferruginous clay or morai, resting on granitic base with scumbe in many places, and here and there felspar, mica, and veins of quartz. Flint and anorthosit appear to be embedded in the granite, slate or gneiss, in the form of crystallised siles.

The road up the ghāt runs from east to west. On the first portion of the ascent the bamboo, cocconut and nut grow in abundance, sheltering the road. On going higher, one observes the indigenous forest trees, among which are conspicuous, the teak, of an inferior quality, the blackwood, which is useful for furniture, and takes a handsome polish the sal, wild jack and vengay. Vengay is a superior timber considered by some equal to teak, and from it the bridges throughout the ghāt are made. Lastly the red and white cedars, the woods of which are suitable for building or making furniture. These trees are conspicuous for their great girth. About two thirds up the ghāt it is a pleasing relief to meet a resting place known as the Half way House, midway between Coonoor and Mettupalayam, or 5 miles from the former station. Here coffee is provided for troops coming up. It is well shaded, and a perennial spring of clear water flows close by. The ascent from Mettupalayam to Coonoor is about 4,500 feet. Midway between Ootacamund and Coonoor, i.e. at the 7th mile stone Aruvankad stands, the Cordite Factory the surroundings of which up to Yellanahalli are under the sanitary charge of the Wellington Cantonment Authority.

| 6 Kallar | Ghāt |

The Ootacamund Botanical Garden was opened during the Governorship of the Marquis of Tweeddale in 1847 and covers an area of about 51 acres. The grounds are beautifully laid out and planted with a great variety of exotic timber and ornamental trees shrubs and herbaceous plants. There is a fine terrace laid out with flower beds in the Italian fashion two conservatories which are open to the public and a range of propagating houses.

Sim's Park Coonoor was opened in 1874 as a pleasure ground for the inhabitants of and visitors to Coonoor and Wellington. It is prettily situated in a valley on the north side of Coonoor at an elevation of 5,800—5,900 feet and is about 30 acres in extent.

Pomological Station—This station which covers an area of about 9 acres is attached to Sim's Park and is situated along the water channel. It was established in 1920 its object being to promote fruit growing to supply fruit trees and seeds to the public and to experiment with various fruit trees and plants.

The Burlier Experimental Garden is near the Burlier toll bar on the Coonoor ghāt at an elevation of 3,800 to 2,500 feet, and was purchased in 1871 for Rs 3,000. Experience has proved that the site which commands a plentiful supply of water all the year round for irrigation purposes is well adapted for the growth of trees and plants peculiar to tropical America, the West Indies, tropical Africa, the Straits and the Eastern Archipelago. The Para Central American Cereals and Pentstemon rubber trees, the Mangosteen Nutmeg Cinnamon Clove Allspice Cocoa Coca Mahogany Camphor Coffee trees of different species Oranges, Breadfruit Cocanaut, Custard Apple Litchi Langsat Avocado Pear Durian and Plantains—including the Manila Hemp plant—are all represented and thriving well in the garden which covers about 8 acres.

Kallar a block of about 10 acres of land at 1,300 to 1,400 feet elevation handed over by the Forest Department in 1900 lies on the old ghāt road about a mile from Kallar Railway Station. Rubber fibre producing plants teak mahogany and tropical fruit trees are being experimented with there and also the valuable medicinal herb, Capelaels Ipecacuanha.

RAMNAD

The District of Ramnad was constituted in 1910. It comprises the two great Zamindari of Ramnad and Sivaganga and the taluks of Sattur and Srivilliputhur. Srivilliputhur, Sivakasi and Virudhunagar are the Municipal towns in the district. Devakottai and Karaikudi are the centres of the wealthy trading community of Nattukottai Chetties. Rameswaram is a place of pilgrimage much resorted to by people from all parts of India. Area 4,888 square miles. Population 1,711,887.

GENERAL.—Comprises the two Zamindaris of Ramnad and Sivaganga. The contour of the country is disturbed by few natural features. The general character of the coast, the rapid growth of the Dhanuakudi promontory and the existence of raised beaches at Mantapam with comparatively fresh coral adhering to them indicate that this part of the country is rising rapidly. The surrounding seas are shallow and silted up. The Vaigai is the chief river. Other rivers are the Vaipar, the Gundar, the Palar, the Manimurhar and the Iridhalaiyar. The general aspect of the country is a treeless expanse. Coral is abundant along the coast. Srivilliputhur (81,186), Sivakasi (14,617) and Viradupatti (21,921) are Municipal towns. Ramnad (18,881) and Sivaganga (9,766) are the head-quarters of the Zamindaris of the same names. Devakottai (16,144) and Karaikudi (15,850) are the centres of the wealthy trading community of Nattukottai Chetties. Viradupatti, Sivakasi and Sattur (8,688) are the chief centres of cotton trade. Rameswaram (7,592) is a place of pilgrimage much resorted to by people from all parts of India.

CLIMATE.—Inner parts hot and dry. Coast cool.

RAINFALL.—Average 81 inches.

AGRICULTURE.—Industrial crops—Cotton, tobacco and ground-nut—cultivated at good profit. Paddy occupies a comparatively small area in the district.

INDUSTRIES.—Chief industries of the district are pressing ginning and weaving of cotton. Dyeing and extracting oil from ground nut are also largely carried on. There is silk weaving at Paramakudi and Rameswaram. Brass and bronze vessels are manufactured at Pudukudal and Coir at Singampuneri in the Tirupattur taluk. Tiles are manufactured at Padupatti in Srivilliputhur after the pattern of Mangalore tiles.

Virudhunagar.—Surrounded by hamlets of different names, known heretofore as Viradupatti of Viraduvetti is a Municipal town on the South Indian Railway, between Madurai and Madhavathi. It is 378 miles from Madurai and 27 miles from Madurai. The History of the Town is told as follows:—

Some 860 years back, a challenge was offered by a warrior to the residents of this town comprising of Chokkalingapuram, Kottaiyappati, Alampatti and Muthuramanpatti. This warrior was in possession of a number of flags in token of having conquered many others. The challenge was accepted and in a fight the warrior was killed and his flags taken over. From then the town was known as Viradukkalavetti, which name was on the station being connected with the Railway in 1875, was altered by the Railway Company into Virudupatti. In connection with the visit of the Rajah of Ponnagudi, to lay the foundation stone of the new Municipal office building on the 6th April, 1933 during the time of the first non-official Chairman of the Municipality, M. S. P. Senthikumar Nader the Council changed the appellation of the town by calling it as Virudhunagar.

The town which is a big cotton centre was a Union till October 1915, when it was constituted a Municipality. Arappukottai, a weaving centre about 18 miles is reached by motor bus which meets every train at Viradupatti.

There is a Travellers' Bungalow on the great southern trunk road about a mile from the Railway Station and a Oshatram within half a mile. The principal trade is cotton and cotton goods. Export is made in large quantity in dried chillies, groundnut oil, coriander seeds and jaggery, etc. There is a local festival lasting for 10 days every year in Pangun (March-April), when over 10,000 people from all parts of the district and its surroundings congregate.

Sivakasi.—It is said that Derisimam of Siva was presented to a Rishi by name Kasi-Kanda-Pera from Rishi who habitually used to go and return from Benares by Kanawa Kuliga, was unavoidably detained at this particular place, which was a forest. The place takes its name from the incident mentioned above.

The town is situated 19 miles west of Sattur Railway Station and is the Head-quarters of the Sub-Collector of Sivakasi Division. Police reserve, in charge of a Deputy Superintendent, has been located here. This was constituted as a Municipal town on 1st October 1900. There is a Municipal Dispensary. This is an important trading centre. The main trade is cotton.

There is a missionary bungalow and school in Sachalapuram, 3 miles distant from here. There is one Private High School and a Girls' School maintained by Madurai community. There are two Elementary Schools under the Municipal management, one for Mahomedan boys and girls and the other for the Adi Dravidas.

There are two choultrys, one named as Tottenham's Choultry and the other named as Tinnuvelli Venkateswara Jogi's Choultry and in the latter free feeding is given to pilgrims. People who go to and return from Srivilliputhur used to stop and lodge for the nights in the choultrys.

INDUSTRIES.—Pressing, Ginning and Weaving of Cotton, Silk Weaving at Pannagudi and Rameswaram. Brass and bronze vessels are manufactured at Pudukudal and Coir at Singampuneri.

Takona.—Aruppukottai, Madakalaver, Pannagudi, Sattur, Sivaganga, Srivilliputhur, Tirupathur, Tiruvadanai and Ramanad.

SALEM.

A District in the Madras Presidency. It is bounded on the North by Mysore and North Arcot, on the South by portions of Coimbatore and Trichinopoly, on the East by Trichinopoly and South Arcot and North Arcot and on the West by Coimbatore and Mysore. Area, 6,912 square miles. Population (1921) 2,112,634. Languages—Tamil, Telugu and Kannase in the Hosur Taluk.

GENERAL.—Numerous hill ranges and forests of considerable value. Nine towns of over 5,000 inhabitants. Salem (62,844) is the head-quarters and a municipality. A place of large trade and distinguished for the excellence of its weaving. Dharmapuri (14,666), Rasipur (18,976), Bendamangalam (12,978), Atur (12,499) and Tiruchengode (10,518) are other important centres.

CLIMATE.—Varied. Yerand is a sanitarium.

RAINFALL.—Average 86 inches.

AGRICULTURE.—Characteristic food grains are ragi and cumbu. Industrial crop groundnut. On the Shevaroy Hills there is a considerable area under coffee and rubber. Tobacco is also cultivated in some parts.

INDUSTRIES.—Weaving is the principal industry. Sugar and jaggery in some parts. Brass and copper vessels are manufactured at Rasipur. Pot-stone quarries in the Tiruchengodu Taluk. Silk weaving in Salem town. Carpets and Coarse blankets are manufactured in several places in the district.

Salem is a large weaving centre and contains over 80,000 looms. Salem cloths are famous and are used all over the Presidency. Among minerals it contains Iron and Chrome ore in Karamalai, Manganese ore near Chalk hills, Mica ore near Edapadi. There are good water-falls at Hobanidra on the Cauvery in Dharmapuri Taluk and in Kollimalai hills near Namakkal, the latter of which is being at present worked for the production of Electricity for supply to Trichinopoly. Salem is an exporting centre for cotton, ground nut, ground nut oil, ghee, singly mangoes, betel, dhal, etc. There is a progressive and nationalistic Municipality at Salem and supplies filtered water to the town from Panamarathupatti, 8 miles away, has introduced Free Elementary Education within its limits, has given decided opinion in favour of Prohibition, has introduced Hand-spinning and Bharat's songs in all its Educational Institutions, is the only Municipality in the Presidency maintaining an Arts College to which it has recently added an Industrial Section.

Places of interest near Salem are Yerand on the Shevaroy, Panamarathupatti Water-falls, Chalk hills, Paley Stag Crag, Hobanidra water falls, Ayodhyaswam and Tharamangalam Temples, Hanumanthiratham and Thirumalai in Uttankarai Taluk, etc. Salem was originally a part of the Mysore State and was then known as Baramahal and still contains a number of picturesque Hill-Forts at Bankari, Trichengode, Namakkal, Deamankottah, Royakottah and other places.

There is Motor-bus communication in the District between the following places:—Salem—Kannai, Salem—Kumarapalayam, Salem—Trichengode, Salem—Atur, Salem—Rasipur, Namakkal—Trichengode, Namakkal—Tiruchy, Namakkal—Mohanur, Namakkal—Panamathi, Dharmapuri—Panamaram, Dharmapuri—Kriahnegiri via Kasaripattam, Kriahnegiri—Hosur, and Hosur—Bendamangalam.

TALUKS.—Atur, Dharmapuri, Hosur, Kriahnegiri, Namakkal, Omalur, Rasipuram, Salem, Tiruchengode and Uttankarai.

THE SHEVAROY HILLS

Are situated in the Salem District between 78° 30' East longitude and 11° 05' North longitude, and extend over an area of 180 square miles. The highest point, Shevaroyan, from which an extensive view of the surrounding country can be obtained, is 5,814 feet above the level of the sea. Brandell 5,507 feet and Duff's Hill, 5,381, are next in height. The Shevaroyan has a small temple and is often visited by picnic parties. Yercaud, 4,380 feet in elevation, is the principal European settlement, having an altitude of 1,700 feet greater than that of Bangalore. It enjoys a cool and salubrious climate, and is surrounded by charming and picturesque scenery. This charming Hill Station is resorted to by a large number of visitors as a Sanatorium and also by those for whom the Nilgiris are too cold, being especially more suitable for those suffering from rheumatism, heart and lung complaints. Salem Railway Station, from which alone the Shevaroyas should be visited, lies 807 miles north west of Madras and is 14 miles by road and ghat, from the centre of Yercaud Station. If the necessary arrangements have been made for ascending the ghat, visitors leaving Madras or Bangalore by the evening train reach their destination before 8 A.M. the following morning. It is 306 miles distance from Calcutta, 97 miles from Coimbatore and 196 from Trichopoly.

These hills are approached by three ghats, one on the southern side communicating with the town of Salem and the railway station, another on the western side leading to Kadiampatty station, distance about 12 miles, and the last traced formerly as Bandy ghat on the northern side of these Hills, connecting them with the Bommi Railway station, distance about 19 miles. A carriage ghat to Salem, named after His Excellency Sir Arthur Havelock is freely used for wheeled traffic. The distance of this ghat to Salem Railway Station is 30 miles. From the station, Yercaud is reached in about three hours, to the foot of the old ghat road in julkas at one rupee each, and the ascent used to be done on chairs at 5 annas per coolie carrying the same six coolies to a chair. But now these rates for chair and luggage coolies as for every thing else, are increased now the charge being Rs 8 0 0 for a chair, and 6 annas for a luggage coolie. The return journey can be done either by rickshaws or cycles, the former are always available at the Yercaud Stores, the charge for each Rick being Rs. 4-12-0. Motoring up and down the New Ghat Road is not only now a possibility but a pleasure, because of the picturesque views that are to be seen.

Among some of the public buildings are the following—Holy Trinity Church (Anglican), Roman Catholic Chapel, Roman Catholic Convent, French Mission, London Mission Chapel and School, Danish Mission Chapel Post Office and Telegraph Office, Victoria Rooms, Kutcherry, Hospital and Dispensary. There is a Sub Treasury and a Sub Registrar's Office, in charge of the Deputy Tahsildar, who is the Sub Magistrate of the Hills.

Parr Lawns has ceased to exist as a boarding house having been bought by a private owner. The Carlton Hotel, comprising Charrington and Carlton House, has taken its place. Numerous detached bungalows are surrounded by extensive and well managed gardens and is in immediate proximity to the Church Post and Telegraph Office, Public Library and Tennis Courts. The Yercaud Club is conveniently situated and has excellent tennis and badminton courts, besides Billiard and Bridge Room &c. There are also Golf links near the Lake, but as these are too small, it is proposed to make a larger course on a more suitable site, and this should prove a great attraction to visitors from the plains. 100 acres of land have been acquired for the formation of a Golf course. This was expected to be opened after the war and should form a great attraction to visitors of Yercaud.

A miniature Rifle Club for ladies was started in 1917.

The European and Eurasian inhabitants of the Shevaroyas number about 850, the former being in a large majority, three fifths of this population is settled in Yercaud and the remainder are in the outlying coffee estates. The Ladies' Rifle Club has ceased to exist. The Afghan Princes and interned Germans have been removed from Yercaud.

A market or Shandi is held on Sundays. There are Bakeries in Yercaud, and shops for the sale of stores and liquors, the principal being Messrs N O Pillai the "Yercaud Stores" and the "Sats" shop. Nearly all the English vegetables and fruit trees thrive remarkably well, and might be cultivated with profit to the grower, in fact a jam factory should prove a very paying concern.

The largest coffee estates are situated from 4 to 7 miles away from Yercaud, at Nagalore and the Green Hills, at the former of which there is a Post and Telegraph Office. Here some of the most flourishing estates are to be seen with excellent roads to them. Several exotic trees are met with, such as Eucalyptus (Blue Gum), Norfolk Pine (Adrocarpus Foveolata), Pinus Longifolia (Pine), Grevillea Robusta (Silver Oak), &c., which present a striking contrast to the forest trees indigenous to these Hills, to which, however, with the exception of the Casuarina, they are much inferior in beauty. Roses and ferns of different kinds grow very well.

The permanent residents are chiefly Planters, some of whom also possess houses which they rent out during the season, which lasts from April to October.

The climate is extremely healthy, especially for children, and epidemics of typhoid and small pox are unknown. These Hills get the benefit of both the south west and north east monsoons, which causes the rainfall to be more evenly distributed throughout the year, and thus enhances the value of the place as a coffee and rubber growing district.

A tribe of natives, called Mallahs (Hill men) Vallahs by caste, the descendants of immigrants from near Coimbatore, are to be met with living in numerous villages of from 20 to 100 conical-shaped huts. They are an agricultural race, cultivating different kinds of grain and breeding cattle and remarkable for their extreme cleanliness. Labour rates have increased, men being Rs 1/12 to 2 for a week, women Rs. 1/3 a week. Independent of these Hill men, Rs 1 2 0, coolies from the low lands come up to work on the estates at the following rates: men Rs. 1-6 0, women Rs. 1-4 0 a week and children 8 to 12 annas per week. There are very many spots within easy distance of Yercaud commanding beautiful views of the low country and distant ranges, suitable for picnics and walking and riding parties, which have only to be seen to be appreciated. Amongst these might be mentioned: Bener's Cove, Lady's Seat, Arthur's Seat, Pagoda Point, Prospect Point, the Killur Falls and Owen's Grotto.

TANJORE.

A District in the Madras Presidency, bounded on the North by the river Coleroon, which separates it from Trichinopoly and South Arcot, on the East and South-East by the Bay of Bengal, on the South-West by Madure, and on the West by Madure and Trichinopoly Area, 2,787 square miles. Population, 2,336,965 Language—Tamil.

GENERAL.—North and Eastern portions form the delta of the Cauveri. Southern portion is higher and is dry. The Cauveri splits itself into numerous branches in the district. Principal rivers are the Kodavari, Thamalakudi, Madikonda, Aranal, Virasolan and Vennar. Tanjore (59,918) is a municipality and an important railway junction. Negapatam (54,016) is the principal seaport of the district carrying a large trade with Ceylon, the Straits Settlements and Burma. Kumbakonam (40,700) is a municipality situated on the Cauveri. It is a place very sacred to the Hindus. Mayavaram (28,817) is a municipality and sacred to the Hindus. Mannargudi (21,238) and Tiruvair (24,134) are also other chief municipal towns in the district. All these places contain temples of archaeological interest.

CLIMATE.—Healthy

RAINFALL.—Average 44 inches.

AGRICULTURE.—Paddy is the chief product cultivated. The cultivation is mostly by transplantation. About seven-eighths of the delta is single crop land. Pulses, black and red grains are sown in large quantities in dry parts.

POPULATION.—Thickly populated. In the matter of education and intellectual status, the district is probably the foremost in the Presidency. It has two first grade colleges.

COMMUNICATION.—A network of railways in the district which no other district can boast of. There are also 1,034 miles of road of which 400 are metalled.

The principal places of importance in the district are Tanjore a Municipality, the Head-quarters of the district Negapatam, a Municipality, the principal seaport of the district carrying large trade with Ceylon, the Straits Settlements and Burma, Kumbakonam, Mayavaram, Mannargudi and Tiruvair places sacred to the Hindus.

INDUSTRIES.—Silk and Cotton weaving in Tanjore, Ayyampet, Kumbakonam and Koramad. Metalware in Kumbakonam and Mannargudi. Native Jewellery, Pithtoys, Lace work and Embroidery manufactured in Tanjore. There are 14,868 Looms and 244 Rice Mills in the district. Koramad is famous for women's clothes. Ayyampet is noted for the manufacture of "Kuthudi" which is worn by Muhammedans. Metalware is manufactured in Kumbakonam and Mannargudi.

Temples.—One of the important pilgrim centres in the Tanjore district. There are four big temples—1. Sri Mayuranathaswami Temple, 2. Parimala Ranganathaswami Temple, 3. Veerar temple and 4. Ponnuswethaswami Temple. The river Cauveri runs through the middle of the town. The important Thala Cauveri festival which lasts for one month in the year, comes off in the middle of October when a large number of pilgrims from all parts of the Presidency assemble here to bathe in this sacred river. There are many shrines where fine feeding is given to any number of pilgrims during the festival period.

TALUKS.—Arantangi, Kumbakonam, Mannargudi, Mayavaram, Nannilam, Negapatam, Papanasam Pattukottai Shiyali, Tanjore and Tiruthuralpundi.

Administrative Head-quarters.—TANJORE, on the south bank of the river Cauveri.

TINNEVELLY

It is bounded on the North and North-east by Madurai, on the South-east and South by the Gulf of Mannar; and on the West by the Southern Ghats. Area, 4,828 square miles. Population, 1,961,866 Language.—Tamil.

GENERAL.—The District is well-clothed with forest. Estimated area of the forest is 864 square miles, of which nearly one-third is Zambadar. The important river is the Tambraparni which has a perennial flow—eight anicuts. There are 18 towns of over 10,000 inhabitants. Tinnevely (48,763) and Palamcottah (46,648) which are separated from each other by the Tambraparni from the head-quarters of the district. Both are municipalities. Palamcottah is celebrated as an active centre of Protestant Missions. Tuticorin (44,532) is a municipality and a growing port.

CLIMATE.—Light rainfall and equable temperature

RAINFALL.—Average 27 inches.

AGRICULTURE.—There is a Government agricultural farm at Kollipatti. The increase in the single planting of paddy and in the cultivation of Cambodia cotton are noteworthy symptoms. Important cereals of the district are paddy, umbu, samai and cholam. Paddy occupies only a small area.

INDUSTRIES.—Chief Industries are pressing ginning, spinning and weaving of cotton and manufacture of jaggery. There are 8 cotton presses in Tuticorin, 34 ginning factories. Mats of kora grass of the texture are manufactured in the Ambasamudram taluk, the finest mats being manufactured at Pattimadai. Other minor industries are extraction of fibre, manufacture of mats and baskets from palmyra leaves, fish curing and metal work. Pearl and shark fisheries are undertaken by Government. There are salt factories in the district.

COMMUNICATION.—South Indian Railway connects the district with the Travancore State. The important seaports are Tuticorin, Kayalpattam and Kulasekharapattam.

The largest towns are Tinnevely and Palamcottah which are separated from each other by the Tambraparni River. These form the head quarters of the district and are Municipalities. Palamcottah is celebrated as an active centre of Protestant Missions. Tuticorin another Municipal town is one of the largest ports in the Presidency and the development of the harbour will soon be an accomplished fact. The Tuticorin Port Trust Act was passed on the Statute book recently.

POPULATION.—Place of pilgrimage—6 miles from Ambasamudram. Pilgrims visit in large numbers during CHITRAI VINHU AND ADI AMAVASI.

Bhansa Theertham.—A grand waterfall and a place of pilgrimage at the foot of the Western Ghats. 13 miles from Ambasamudram.

Ayazengo.—The District of Ayazengo comprises of the two enclaves of Anaiyengo and Tangasseri.

TALUKS.—Ambasamudram, Kollipatti, Nanguneri, Sunkaranayinakovil, Srivaikuntam, Tenkasi, Tinnevely and Tiruchendur.

Administrative Head-quarters.—PALAMCOTTAH

TRICHINOPOLY

A District in the Madras Presidency, is bounded on the North-West and North by Salem; on the North and North East by South Arcot; on the South East by Tanjore; on the South by the Pudukottai State and Madurai and on the West by Coimbatore Area, 4,818 square miles Population, 1,902,888 Language.—Tamil.

GENERAL.—About 11 miles west of Trichinopoly, the Cauveri divides itself into two branches which nearly unite again about 19 miles east of the city being separated there only by an artificial dam. The northern branch which is called the Coleroon, flows east-north east from this point and separates the district from Tanjore for about 45 miles of its length. The largest tributary of the Cauveri is the Amaravati which drains the northern slopes of the Anamalai and Palani hills and after a course of about 140 miles discharges itself into the Cauveri a few miles below Karur. The chief hills are the Kollimalais and the Patchaimalais. Trichinopoly has a population of 120,432 and is the third largest city in the Presidency. An important railway junction, a place of much historic interest, a military Cantonment, a centre of considerable trade and a Municipal Town Srirangam (28,160) lying on an island between the Cauveri and the Coleroon is famous for its Vishnu temple and is a municipality. Karur (18,849) is a municipality and a place of sanctity. Other important places are Lalgudi (16,425), Kullithalai (7,606), Ariyalur (7,978), Tiruvalur (13,546) and Udairpalaiyam (7,517).

CLIMATE.—Hot and dry

RAINFALL.—Average 53 inches.

AGRICULTURE.—Rice is the chief cultivation. Cumbu, Cholams, and Vazani are extensively grown in the district.

COMMUNICATIONS.—Railways serve the district well and when the Villupuram-Trichinopoly line is completed the distance to Madras will be shortened by 50 miles.

Trichinopoly, the chief town of the district, has a population of 120,432 and is the third largest city in the Presidency. It is an important railway junction station, a place of much historic interest, a Military Cantonment, a centre of considerable trade and a Municipal town Srirangam 5 miles from Trichinopoly, contains a famous Vishnu temple. Karur, another place of sanctity, has considerable trade.

Chettichalam.—Here is a Subramanya Swami Temple, situated on the top of a small hill, where pilgrims flock every year for the Panguni Uthirai Festival, held in March and April.

Temples.—This is considered the capital of the old Chera Kings as would be seen from the inscriptions in the temple, noting the period of their reign. There is a Vishnu temple, a mile off this place built on a hilltop by some Chanthan. Note. This is visited by pilgrims during festival in February.

There are a number of rest houses for the convenience of pilgrims.

"AMRUTANJAN" is an absolute necessity to all.

SIRUVAGURU.—Here is a sacred temple called the 'Madura Kaliswami' Temple where pilgrims largely assemble at the Car festival in May and June every year.

INDUSTRY.—Weaving is the chief village industry. There are 16,000 looms in the district. Cigars are manufactured in Trichinopoly town.

TALUKA.—KARUR, KULITALAI, LAIGUDI, MUKRI, PERAMBALUR, TRICHINOPOLY and UDAYARPALAYAM.

Administrative Head-quarters.—TRICHINOPOLY TOWN.

COCHIN STATE

Description and Position.—Cochin (Vernacular—Kochi) is a Native State in subsidiary alliance with the British Government and politically connected with the Presidency of Madras. It is said to be called after the town of that name, formerly its Capital, where in 1502 the Portuguese were allowed to settle and erect a Fort. In 1661 it was captured by the Dutch, and from them the British took possession of it and it is now a British possession. The State lies between 8° 45' and 10° 50' N Lat., and 76° E' and 76° 15' E Long. It is bounded on the north by British Malabar, on the east by British Malabar, Coimbatore and Travancore, on the south by Travancore and on the west by British Malabar and the Arabian Sea. The area of the State is 1,417½ square miles according to the recent survey of the State. The total Population of the State according to the Census of 1911 is, about 9,20,000, for further particulars—See page 370

Divisions.—For administrative purposes Cochin is divided into five taluks viz Cochin-Kannur, Mukundapuram, Trichur, Talapilli and Chittur. In addition to these there is also the small principality of Cranganur under a Chief paying tribute to Cochin. This principality is financially autonomous but is in all other respects administered as one of the taluks of the State.

Physical feature.—The Cochin State is naturally divided into three well-defined parts or zones—the hills, the plains and the seaboard. The hilly or eastern portion, which covers nearly half the extent of the State, is broken by long spurs, extensive ravines, forests and tangled jungles. The chief ranges of hills are the Nellampathies with Parambikulam and the Pothundi in the Chittur taluk, the Machad in the Talapilli taluk the Paravattani in the Trichur taluk, the Palappu Kodasseri and Adampilli in the Mukundapuram taluk, and Malavattur in the Cochin-Kannur taluk. Nellikotta or Padaguri on the Nellampathies which is 5,000 feet high, is the loftiest peak in the State. They are covered with magnificent forests of teak and other valuable trees, and exhibits everywhere a splendid luxuriance of foliage and flowers. Stretching westward in gentler slopes and gradually widening valleys, but broken here and there by isolated low hills, the plains succeed forest-clad uplands. Intersected by numerous rivers and streams, dotted everywhere with homes and farm-steads and closely cultivated wherever possible, these plains stretch towards the backwaters, in a succession of gentle undulations. Between the backwaters and the sea is the long and narrow stretch of sandy seaboard densely covered with luxuriant coconut palms, and in parts, where these are natural or artificial embankments, large quantities of rice are grown. It is low and generally swampy and in several parts liable to be flooded during the monsoon inundations.

Rivers.—The chief rivers are the Alwaye or Periyar, the Chalakudi, the Karamali, the Manali, the Ponnani and the Anamalai. Besides these there are several minor streams. There is a picturesque water-fall of nearly 150 feet at Adampilli.

Backwaters.—One of the most striking physical features of the country is the continuous chain of lagoons or backwaters running parallel to the sea, and receiving the drainage of the numerous streams descending from the Western Ghats. They are very irregular in form, with a breadth which ranges between four miles and a few dozen yards, branch out into a number of intricate and shallow channels and contain several low alluvial islands. They communicate with the sea at three points—Cochin Oranagar and Chetwai. Though these backwaters are shallow in most places, navigation is at all times possible for flat bottomed passenger and cargo boats. In places where they are very deep, navigation during the monsoon season is often dangerous and tedious. There are also two extensive fresh water lakes, which are connected with each other, the Nammalak and the Manakudi. The other lakes are Cochin, Kalthapuzha and Chathanad, which are salt-water.

Ports.—The ports of Cochin, excluding the port of Cochin which lies entirely in the British district of Malabar, are Malipuram Narakal and Oranagar. The port of Cochin though it belongs to the British Government is described here as almost all the whole sea-borne trade of the State passes through this port and its improvement and development are of more importance to Native Cochin than to British Malabar. The port consists of an outer roadstead and an inner harbour with a large expansion of backwater behind it, where vessels of great draught can be conveniently accommodated when the sea is very rough. This can be done only if the bar at the mouth of the harbour is removed and if it is done, Cochin can be made one of the finest harbours in the world. As it is it is the third largest trading port in Southern India. Malipuram and Narakal are open roadsteads, which are generally resorted to only during the monsoon months, when the shipping from Cochin takes refuge at the mud bank of Narakal.

Islands.—The chief among the islands are Kumbalangi, Kumbalom, Vendruthy, Bolghatty, Kadamakkudi and Panambekud. At the southern extremity of Bolghatty is situated the British Residency, commanding a grand view on its three sides and overlooking the Cochin Harbour.

Soil and Climate.—The prevailing geological formation of the eastern zone is gneiss which decomposes into a soil, which in combination with the climate is eminently suited to promote a luxuriant forest growth. Proceeding westwards, the formation merges into a laterite underlain by gneiss and becomes sandy on the seaboard. The climate, though damp and enervating, is not particularly unhealthy. It is most moist and enervating in the southern taluks, which are situated by the sea and the backwaters but less so in the northern taluks. Of all parts of the State the Chittur taluk, situated within the Palghat gap, has the driest and most bracing climate. The lower hills and parts of Chittoor are feverish, especially during the dry months.

Flora and Fauna.—The forests abound in teak, rosewood, blackwood, ebony, white cedar, red cedar (X. dolabriformis), Aini (A. Airovata), Vedaukorana (B. nylcarpa), Venga (P. marsupium), Pongu (O. bracteatum), Vesambu (K. clypeata), Ventek (L. lanceolata), Maillelu (L. alismum), Kilavu (B. malabaricum) and other trees and plants of commercial and medicinal value. Coffee and cardamoms are grown on the Nelliampathies. The flora of the laterite plains consist of jack, mango, areca palms, banana and various species of plantain. The coconut palm is the chief growth of the seaboard. The forests of Cochin contain all the larger animals of North India. Elephants and bison are common in the Parambikulam Range, and to a smaller extent, in the Kodasseri Range. Ixex are seen occasionally in the higher ranges of the Nelliampathies. The tiger, bear, cheetah, leopard, hyena and sambar, with many varieties of deer, are met with in all the forests. The true hunting leopard and wolf are said to be found in some of the jungles. Monkeys and birds are abundant both in the hills and the plains, as also are snakes and other reptiles. Fish of various tribes and species abound in the rivers and backwaters.

Arts, Manufactures and Industries.—Cotton weaving is carried on to some extent in Chittur and Talapudi taluks. There are a few fly shuttle looms in Trichur. There loosed and unloosed cloths of fine texture are manufactured. Grass mats of exquisite colouring and texture, are made in Wadakkancherry. They are highly admired and are in great demand. Coir matting, ropes and rugs of good quality are made in Ernakulam and Mattancherry. The most important factory industry is the extraction of coconut oil by steam mills all in the Cochin Kanayannur taluk. There are nearly a dozen factories of tile and brick works (Mangalore pattern) in the State. There are also steam saw mills and a hydraulic press. Agriculture is the chief occupation of the people. Cultivation of coffee, tea and rubber is carried on in the forests.

Education.—The necessity for a system of imparting State education was recognised by Government so far back as the year 1818 by establishing 83 Vernacular Schools in the several Provinces or villages of the State with the avowed object of training up young men for State Service, as Writers and Accountants, giving instructions to the three B's and Astrology and Sanskrit to advanced pupils. The first attempt to introduce the study of the English language was made by a Missionary, Rev J Dawson by opening a school at Mattancherry in 1818 in aid of which he received a grant from the Sircar. This school had to be closed within three years for want of pupils. In 1835 another school was opened where children of the Jews were taught English, Hebrew and Malayalam. This school is still in existence. Two years later, an English School was opened at Trichur and another at Tripunithur for the education of the Princes and others. The 'free school' established at Kozhikulam in 1846 was afterwards raised to the standard of a High School in 1865 and was placed in charge of an European Head Master, Mr A Y Sealy, M.A., with whose name is associated the progress of English education in the State. The liberal policy followed by the Dewan, Mr Sankunni Menon C.S. contributed not a little towards the education of His Highness's subjects. During his Dewanship the High School was raised to the standard of a Second Grade College in 1874. In 1897 District Schools were opened in all the taluks and a Director of Education in the person of Mr Sealy was also appointed. Grant-in-aid rules were framed in 1899. A great impetus was given to the education of the masses by the organisation of the Department of Vernacular Education in 1899. State Schools were opened for boys and girls in most of the Provinces and a large number of indigenous schools were brought into the aided list. In the beginning of 1899, the Vernacular and English Departments were amalgamated and placed under the control of a Superintendent of Education. In 1896 the High Schools, both Sircar and private, were removed from the control of the Superintendent and placed directly under the Dewan. The altered conditions under the new educational system rendered the introduction of a variety of reforms in this important branch of the Administration and with this object in view the State obtained the services of a special Educational Officer, Mr J Van Bommel Pope, M.A., retired British Director of Education in Burma. The main lines of reforms introduced by Government were fully dealt with in the Dewan's Press communique (February 1908) and are the introduction of free Primary education for girls and backward classes throughout the State, opening of night schools for the labouring classes, institution of free scholarships to backward classes throughout the State, institution of free scholarships in the Secondary Schools, revision of the existing grant-in-aid rules on a liberal scale, opening of a training school for female teachers, adoption of increased scale of pay for Primary and Girls school teachers and the opening of an Industrial and Technical Institute.

Religious and Charitable Institutions.—The Devaswoms or Hindu religious institutions, under the State are of two kinds, vis., Incorporated and Unincorporated Devaswoms whose properties and whose revenues and expenditure were completely merged in the general revenues and expenditure of the State are termed Incorporated Devaswoms. The Devaswoms whose properties and receipts were not amalgamated with those of the State but were kept separate and the expenditure met from those receipts are called Unincorporated Devaswoms. In the case of the former set of Devaswoms, since the expenditure exceeded the receipts, there was no balance available and excess expenditure had to be met from the general revenues of the State. In the case of Unincorporated Devaswoms they were self-supporting, while a majority of them had incomes considerably exceeding the expenditure and thus they had a tolerably good sum as balance to their credit. There was thus a great disparity in the financial position of the two classes of Devaswoms. With a view to place this branch of administration on a satisfactory footing and to make it self-supporting as far as possible His Highness Government devised a completely new scheme of Devaswom Administration, and brought it into force in September 1909. By this scheme all Devaswoms under Sircar management, Incorporated and Unincorporated, were amalgamated and constituted into a separate endowment, the several Devaswoms being thus made component and inter-dependent parts of a whole, instead of being the isolated units that they were. This involved the restoration of the properties and monies of such of the institutions as were annexed to the Sircar, nearly a century ago, and the creation of a separate trust fund. For administrative purposes the Devaswoms are divided into four groups. The receipts and expenditure of the Devaswoms were entirely separated from the general revenues but the Devaswoms are allowed to bank with the State Treasuries. The Pathivu or customary scale of expenditure in all Devaswoms was revised and a uniform system of collection of revenue, control of expenditure and maintenance of accounts were introduced. Oottupuras.—These are feeding houses where gratuitous meals are given to Brahmans. There were 15 of them till 1902. In the reorganisation of these institutions 4 of them were abolished and sumptuous meals were arranged to be served to all bona fide travellers in all the Oottupuras except Tripunithuram where the residents are also fed in the morning. There are also 2 Oottupuras where conjee is served for a few months in a year. These institutions cost the Sircar nearly half a lakh of rupees per annum. Water Pandals.—The State is everywhere dotted with water pandals where butter milk flavoured with salt and lime-juice &c, is gratuitously served to the wayworn travellers during the hot season.

Commerce.—The chief exports are coconut oil, coir yarn, rope fibre and matting, coconut, copra, all-spice, gambier, coffee, lemon grass oil, ginger, pepper, fish and prawns. The chief imports are rice and paddy, cotton piece-goods, raw cotton and twist yarn, metals, cutlery hardware, sugar, kerosene oil and salt. Kannamkulam is the centre of trade in areca-nuts.

Tramway.—The approximate area of the Cochin forests is nearly six hundred square miles, about half of which are virgin forests, unworked for want of a suitable outlet. From the Pambikulam Range an outlet in the shape of a tramway and timber-shed has been constructed by the Government, apto-Chalakudy, a station on the Shoranur-Cochin Railway, a distance of nearly 80 miles. This line is now considered as one of the biggest and best equipped tramways designed for purely forest work in the world and it possesses many features of special interest to engineers, arboriculturists and railway-men generally.

Railway.—A branch line of railway (Metre Gauge) was opened in July 1903 from Shoranur to Ernakulam, the capital of the State. The line, 64.6 miles, cost nearly 71 lakhs of rupees, and is now worked by the South Indian Railway Company. There are 17 stations on the line.

Roads and Communications.—There are in all about 500 miles of metalled road maintained by the State, besides the unmetalled. The backwaters, also, afford easy communication with several parts of the State. There are some navigable canals also which afford communication.

Revenues.—The gross revenue of the State under all ordinary receipt heads for the official year 1909 M.E. 1923-1924 excluding the principality of Oranjanur was Rs. 61,99,284 and the total expenditure was Rs. 62,80,588. There was a large decrease in expenditure under 'Railway', Public Works and Forestry. Against these decreases there were increases mainly under 'Education', Medical and Sanitation, Scientific etc. Departments.

Political relations.—The State is governed by the Maharaja as its hereditary King, with the Dewan appointed by him as his Chief Minister and advised in all important matters by a British Political Officer called the Agent to the Governor-General Madras State and has political relations with the Indian Government. The Maharajah's powers are limited only by the Regulations passed by himself and by the treaty obligations with the British Government, the powers exercised by his officers being but those delegated by him by legislative enactments or by special rules or orders. The Dewan is the most important Minister of the Maharaja and the Chief Executive Officer of the State and he is primarily responsible for the official and progressive administration of the State.

History.—The Maharaja of Cochin traces back his descent from the last of the Chermanam Perumals who possessed extensive territories. The Maharaja lost a considerable portion of his territories in the struggle between the adjoining States in the middle of the 18th century. The Town of Cochin is historically important as being the first European Settlement in India where the Portuguese were allowed to erect a fort by the Raja of Cochin in 1503. In 1663 the Dutch expelled the Portuguese and became masters of the place. The British in their turn drove away the Dutch and took their possessions in 1793. Ever since it remains with the former. The State of Cochin has a Colony of Jews who migrated there so early as the first century after Christ. Tradition has it that the Apostle St. Thomas landed at Malankara near Oranjanur, about 52 A.D.

Legislation.—During the year, 8 Regulations to amend—(1) Cochin Court of Wards Regulation, (2) Cochin Penal Code Regulation I and (3) Cochin Municipal Regulation XI and rules were issued under—(1) The Registration of Vital Statistics in Municipal areas (2) The Cochin Companies Rules, (3) The Cochin Insolvency Regulation II and (4) The Cochin Legislative Council Regulation VIII.

GENERAL.—About the close of the year the State had to pass through a severe calamity in the shape of a fearful flood known or recorded in its annals. The flood lasted for about a fortnight and caused great loss to an extent of 50 lakhs of rupees on account of destruction of crops, houses, roads, railway, factory etc., and the State adopted all measures to alleviate the distress thus caused. But for the destructive flood with which the year terminated and whose ill-effects were most felt only after its close, the year was from an administrative standpoint one of steady progress.

LANGUAGES.—Malayalam, the Vernacular and the official language of the State, is spoken by the majority of the people, but Tamil, Telugu, Konkani (a dialect of Marathi, Canarese and Tulu) are also spoken.

TOWNS.—The chief towns in the State are Ernakulam, Mattancherry, Triphur, Chittur, Thattamangalam, Tripunithura, Irijalakuda and Kunnampikulam. A Municipal Regulation has recently been introduced by Government and four towns were brought under it. They are Ernakulam, Triphur Mattancherry and Chittur Thattamangalam.

Oranjanur.—Oranjanur situated near the sea on the right bank of the Periyar river, is the seat of an ancient principality. The Chief is a Kshatriya by caste and gets a fixed allowance from the Oranjanur Treasury for his own maintenance and the maintenance of other members of his family. It has an area of 184 square miles. It is a very densely peopled tract. It is financially autonomous, but in all other respects it is administered as an integral part of the State. The Chief pays a tribute of Rs. 6,857 to Cochin. It was a place of great historical interest, though it is now of little importance. It once possessed an excellent harbour and was an important centre of commerce, trading with the West even before the Christian era. In the first century of the Christian era Pliny described it as "the first emporium in India." During this period and for some centuries afterwards it was the seat of the Perumals or the early kings of Kerala before its dismemberment. The Jews and the Christians got their first footing here and founded towns long before the Portuguese discovered a direct route to India. Here the Portuguese built a fort in 1523. The fort was removed by the Dutch when the Portuguese power fell to their prowess. Ruins of an old fort are now visible. One branch of the Periyar river and the Chalakudy river empty themselves at the Oranjanur bar. The temple at Oranjanur is known throughout the West Coast and is dedicated to 'Sri Kurumba Bhagavathy'. At the time of the annual festival known as 'Kodungallore Bharsani' thousands of pilgrims assemble here. The members of the Chief's family are well versed in Sanskrit. One of them, Raja Valia Goda Varma Raja, is the recipient of the title of Mahamahopadhyaya, conferred in recognition of his high attainments in Sanskrit learning.

Ernakulam.—Ernakulam is the capital of the State and is the terminus of the State Railway. The principal buildings are the Hurar Secretariat, the Chief Court the District Court, the District Engineer's Court, the Magistrate's Court, the offices of the Diwan Pishkar, the Tabaldar, the Excise Superintendent, the Anchoil Superintendent, the Chief Medical and Sanitary Officer, the District Registrar, the Ernakulam College, the General Hospital, the Durbar Hall and the Guest House. Close to the Railway Station is the Travellers' Bungalow. There are in the town two power mills for the extraction of coconut oil and the Burns Oil Company and the Asiatic Petroleum Company have large petroleum installations near the Railway Station. The town is supplied with good drinking water from the Alwaye river. There are palaces of His Highness the Raja, a Residential Palace for the young Prince and a temple dedicated to Siva. There are four important churches belonging to several sections of Roman Catholics and also a Protestant Church. Ernakulam is situated on the east side of the back water and is 24 miles off from Cochin. There are motorbuses plying between Ernakulam and Cochin. Six miles to the south-east of Ernakulam is Tripunithura, where His Highness has a palace and the members of the Royal family reside. The most interesting annual function of the place is the Attache-nagaram in August, which is believed to be the commemoration of a victory gained by Cochin. On the morning of the day His Highness the Raja goes in procession round the town in a palanquin, accompanied by all the State Officers and the representatives of the old Chiefs and with all the paraphernalia of oriental pageantry. When the procession is over, His Highness holds a levee at the Leilhor place where all the officers and Chiefs pay their respect to him one by one and receive from him money presents according to a graduated scale. His Highness the Maharaja resides generally in the Hill Palace at Paria near Ernakulam, two miles east of Tripunithura. On the island of Boighatty north-west of Ernakulam, is the British Residency in Cochin. There is a very fine old Dutch building with new improvements.

As you see this, others will see your advertisement first when you have it.

The British Residency is located in the most prominent part of the island and commands a view of the harbour and of adjoining islands situated in and around the backwaters.

Mattancherry—Mattancherry is situated on the western side of the backwater that separates it from Ernakulam. It lies to the south of British Cochin and is a centre of considerable export and import trade, which is almost entirely in the hands of Bhatias and Kashi Memons from the Bombay Presidency. The retail trade is mostly in the hands of Konkani Brahmans and Bhatias (Bhatyans). Mattancherry is said to have been once the Capital of the State and contains a spacious old palace of quaint design which was built and presented to the Raja by the Portuguese about the year 1585. It is in this palace that the Raja of Cochin are installed on the Muzam even now. Within the palace there is a temple dedicated to Pashayatur Bhagavathy. There is a colony of White Jews in Mattancherry. They hold a charter engraved on copper plates granted to them by Bhaskara Ravi Varma, Emperor of Malabar, in 873 A.D. Near the palace there is a synagogue belonging to the White Jews. Among modern institutions of interest are the large and richly endowed Konkani temple of Thrumala Devaswom and the Women and Children's Hospital. The town also contains a District Munsiff's Court, a Sub Magistrate's Court, a Police Station, a District Registrar's Office, a Male Dispensary and a High School maintained out of the funds of the Thrumala Devaswom. Owing to the mismanagement of this Devaswom, the Government very recently undertook its management. There is a Lepet Asylum in the island of Venduruthy, separated from the mainland by an arm of the back water.

Trichur—Trichur is a town of great antiquity and sanctity and is said to have been founded by Parasu Rama. In the centre of the town and on the summit of a hillock stands the ancient Pagoda of Wadakkannathana to which many thousands of people annually resort on the occasion of the Trichur Pooram Festival, in the month of Medom (May). On the four sides of the town, there are ruins of an old fort and ditch. There are two mutts of Nambudiri Brahmans and there is a Vedic College called the Brahmaswam Madam where gratuitous boarding and instruction are given to Nambudiri youths. Trichur is the head-quarters of several Public Offices, viz. the Chief Engineer, the Conservator of Forests, the Comptroller of Accounts, the Superintendent of Police and Commandant of the Nair Brigade, the District Magistrate, the Superintendent of Registration, the Land Record Superintendent, the Agricultural Superintendent, the Devaswom Superintendent, the Director of Education, the District Court, the Magistrate's Court, the Hospital, the Veterinary Hospital, the Lunatic Asylum, the High Schools for Boys and Girls, the St. Thomas' College (made 1st Grade from 1925) the Government Industrial and Technical School and the Havelock Market. The Central Jail is situated at Villyoor close to Trichur. There is also a State Museum and Zoological Garden. There are four Churches in the town—Roman Syrian, Chaldean Latin and Protestant and it is also the chief centre of the Church Mission Society's work in the State. His Highness the Raja has a palace built by the Dutch. This palace is surrounded by a fort and a ditch and has two entrances. The fort and ditch are not in good condition. There is a Travellers Bungalow. The Kokkral canal connects the dock in the Railway Station yard with the backwaters and provides a means of communication with all the important towns on the West Coast. The Ennakkal Lake, only five miles to the south-west of Trichur is an extensive fresh water lake where during summer weather (February to April), kolo cultivation is carried on, on an extensive scale. The water is baled out either by Persian wheels or pumps worked by steam or oil engines. The lake, viewed from the hillocks situated to the east of it, presents a beautiful sight.

HYDERABAD (DECCAN)

H. E. H. THE NIZAM'S DOMINIONS

The Dominions of His Highness the Nizam lie between 15° 10' and 21° 40' North Latitude and between 74° 40' and 81° 55' East Longitude

They occupy a tract, 82,698 square miles in area in the central portion of the tableland of the Deccan, which, in the generally accepted sense of the term, refers to that portion of Southern India which is bounded on the north and south by the Nerbudda and the Nistna, and laterally by the Eastern and Western Ghats. The Dominions are bounded on the north by the district of Khandesh and the river Tapti, which separates them from the district of Berhampur in the Bombay Presidency, and the south by the rivers Tungabhadra and Krishna, forming the northern boundary of the districts of Bellary, Kurnool and Guntur, and by the district of Kistna, all in the Madras Presidency; on the East by the rivers Wardha and Godavari, which flow along the Western limits of the districts of Chanda and Simoga, in the Central Provinces; and on the west by the districts of Dharwar, Kaladgi, Sholapur and Ahmednagar all in the Bombay Presidency. A portion of the river Sina also forms the western boundary of the Nizam's Dominions, but the taluqs of Jamker, Barai and a part of Kargam, all in British territory are to the East of that river. Similarly, a part of the river Godavari separates the Nizam's Dominions on the West from British territory; but a few of the Nizam's villages are beyond this river. The languages spoken in the Dominions are Kandahari, Telugu, Qanoree & Mahratti.

Physical Features.—The Dominions are a vast plateau of an average elevation of 1,250 feet, though some summits reach 3,500 feet above the sea-level. The country is geologically and ethnologically divided into two large and almost equal divisions. The Godavari and the Krishna rivers separate these. The area of the south-east is composed of granite and lime-stone. The former is inhabited by the Mahrattas and Khatris people whose staple food is wheat and jawari; and the latter is peopled by the Telugus, who subsist chiefly on rice. In this granitic and calcareous region, hills made of vegetation, brushwood of every description scattered in profusion, detached perpendicular rocks and collections or masses of boulders, which seem to be piled by giant hands, are not scarce. The soil, when formed from the decomposition of these rocks, is generally sandy and hence generally sterile. The rivers in this region too flow only in the rainy season. The trappean region generally presents a pleasing aspect with its luxuriant vegetation and its craggy cliffs and hills. The soil derived from the decomposition of this formation—the ordinary black cotton soil and regur—is productive, fertile and impervious. Thus, while the granitic region is suggestive of sterility the trappean region is synonymous with fertility. Thick jungles and forests are met with mostly in the valleys of rivers, especially those of the Wardha, the Godavari and the Krishna. There is carboniferous mandstone along the right bank of the Godavari.

Political Divisions.—Land may be divided into distinct heads with regard to administration and collection of revenue—

(1) Sarfi-Akhas.—Lands assigned to the Sovereign in lieu of cash payments from the public treasury comprising an area of 7,113 square miles. They consist of an entire district surrounding Hyderabad City (Atrafi-Haidra) two taluks in Aurangabad District, one each in Bhir, Parbhani and Bidar Districts, three in Osmanabad District, three in Gulbarga District, and a few scattered villages. The revenue from these exceeds 41 lakhs of rupees.

(2) Pargah.—Lands, assigned by the Nizam Ali Khan Asaf Jah to Shamsul Umra Amur-i-habir for the maintenance of a body of horse called His Highness' Household Troops comprising about 4,124 square miles.

(3) Khalas.—Lands, or Ditrani territory, divided for administrative purposes, into four Subas, or divisions, which are further sub-divided into districts.

Jagirs.—As far back as the time of Tamerlane it had been the custom to bestow jagirs as royal presents upon those who had in any way distinguished themselves by their services to the State. The Jagirs were granted either free of rent, for perpetuity for life or on condition of rendering military service when required, &c. The Jagirdars do not pay any fixed annual tribute to the Government. But those who used to pay Chowk (or a fourth part of their revenue) to the late Mahratta Peshwas, continue to pay the amount to the Nizam's Government from the time they came under it. The Jagirs extend over 11,000 square miles, and many jagir villages are scattered over the Government territory.

Tributary Chiefs.—The principal tributary chiefs are the Rajas of Gudwal, Wanganpuri, Anbegundi, Gopalpet, Amarchinta and Javalgi. They hold small tracts of country and pay tribute to the Nizam's Government, ranging from Rs. 25,000 to Rs. 1,50,000 per annum.

Commerce.—The principal imports are: sugar, salt, glass, Englishware, piece-goods, spirits, hardware and cutlery, coffee, tea, saltpetre, mercury, opium, camphor and musk. The exports are carpets, maulina, coal, grain, oleo-seeds, cotton, honey, wax, coarse woollen cloth and timber.

Industries.—The bulk of the people are engaged in agriculture. The principal manufactures in the State are steel manufactured out of iron ore, and once used for making swords and spear heads, carpets and rugs made of Wacangan, khakhra, or gold and silver cloth plain and embroidered muslins, brocades of coloured silk with gold and silver threads, rasa silk saltpetre, Persian paper and pottery, and bidriware, which is made of an alloy of copper, lead and tin, or zinc, and inlaid with floral and other decoration in gold or silver.

The Cave Temples of Ellora.—These cave temples are the largest and most varied of the rock temples in India and contain some of the finest specimens of Buddhist, Brahmanic and Jain temples. The village of Ellora is situated about 14 miles to the north-west of Aurangabad, and about 6 miles from Dindnabadi, a station on the Nizam's Guaranteed Railway line. There is no bungalow at Ellora; close by, at Rosa, there is a luxuriously furnished Guest House, maintained by His Highness the Nizam's Government. The caves are excavated in the scarp of a large plateau and run nearly north and south for a mile and a quarter. At each end, the scarp throws out a horn to the west. The oldest caves the Buddhist, are situated at the south end at the point where the scarp begins to turn to the West. At the other extremity and in the north horn are the Jain caves while the Brahmanic group is between them. Taking the Kailasa as the centre, 16 caves lie to the south of it, 14 of which are Buddhist, and nearly as many to the north of it are Brahmanic and Jain. The Buddhist caves of Ellora are some of the Mahayana group, and range in time from 350 to 550 A.D.

Ajanta Caves.—The celebrated Buddhist caves at Ajanta in the Aurangabad District are situated in the Western hills, 4 miles to the north-west of the village. The paintings in the caves comprise scenes of everyday life, such as preparing food, carrying water, buying and selling provisions, hunting, scenes, elephant fights, men and women engaged in singing, dancing and playing on musical instruwere most vigorously painted upon the walls. Some of the earlier paintings are probably of old as the second century of the Christian era, the majority belonging to the eighteenth century.

The hill fort of Golconda was formerly the seat of Government, and in the fort as well as near it are the far-famed tombs of Golconda, a series of splendid mausoleums built in oriental style over the departed Sovereigns and Princes of the Golconda dynasty. The tombs are greatly admired for their extent and beauty.

Climate, &c.—The climate may be said to be good, for it is pleasant and agreeable during the greater part of the year being between extreme heat and cold. As the country is usually hilly the hot winds are not felt so keenly as in places where there are great sandy arid plains. It is only the south-west monsoon which sets in in June, and continues till October that is of any importance whatever to the country, the average rainfall during this monsoon being 30 inches. The rainfall during the south-east monsoon is scanty, and of little benefit to the country the average being from 4 to 8 inches. Westerly winds blow from June to September, when they change for an easterly direction from October to February and during March, April and May the winds are north-westerly. The Western Ghats do, in a measure, interfere with the volume of rain that might otherwise fall, but immediately the rain passes the ghats, it increases again, though very gradually.

Hyderabad is the Capital of the Nizam's territories and the seat of Government. It is situated within six miles from the Fort of Golconda. Its distance from Calcutta is about 1,200 miles, from Madras 400, and from Bombay 470 miles. The City is approached by numerous bridges, gates and posterns, it being surrounded by a stone wall, which is in a weak and ruined state. Great improvements have been effected by widening the streets in several parts, and many sanitary arrangements have been introduced.

The following are some among the numerous buildings at Hyderabad worthy of a visit:—

His Highness Palaces namely—Putani Haveli, Chow Mahalla, Baradari, Sirdar Villa at Malakpet and Falaknash Castle. The Golconda Fort and Tombs; Char Minar; Mecca Masjid, Badi Bagh; Amangarh, Buranagar the Victoria Memorial Orphanage; Shapurwadi and the Public Gardens.

THE BRITISH RESIDENCY, CHADDAHAT

The building in which the British Resident resides is called by this name. It is an elegant edifice in spacious grounds, and is enclosed by a high wall with bastions at the entrance gates. It is situated just North of the City of Hyderabad, the River Musi running in the intervening space.

In the right and left of the building are handsome wings each containing accommodation sufficient for a large number of guests. The building is handsomely furnished, and has been described as 'Oriental only in its magnificence, but perfectly English in its comforts.' Opposite the front of the building, which is the entrance for European visitors or noblemen of Hyderabad, is a fine flower garden skilfully laid out. In the compound are good houses for the First and Second Assistant Residents, and Escort officer and office accommodation for the Administrative Printing Treasury, Judicial and Persian Departments. At one end of the compound are barracks for the detachment of Cavalry, and Company of Native Infantry which form the Resident's Escort, under the command of European Commissioned Officer. There are an old but disused, burial ground a Bequest Court and Croquet Ground within the Residency compound. The Hyderabad Telegraph Office is situated within the Residency walls and an Imperial Branch Post Office. The Branch of the Imperial Bank is close by.

Surrounding the Residency are a number of populous Bazaars, embracing an area of about a square mile, over which the Resident exercises jurisdiction, both in Civil and Criminal matters.

RULES FOR ENTERING THE CITY OF HYDERABAD.

Officers and other Europeans belonging to the District are prohibited from visiting the City of Hyderabad, or the Fort or Tombs of Golconda, without permission from the Resident, to be obtained by application through Staff Officers of Brigades. As it is usual to send intimation of all such visits beforehand to H. E. H. the Nizam's Government and obtain its assent for them, each application should as a rule reach the First Assistant Resident four days before the proposed visit.

SECUNDERABAD

Secunderabad (named after the Nizam Sikandar Jah) is the largest Military Station in India and is situated 6 miles north-east of Hyderabad City. It is the Winter Headquarters of the 14th Secunderabad Division of the Army.

The Military Force stationed here consists of one Regiment of European and of Native Cavalry, one Battery of Royal Horse Artillery three Batteries of Royal Artillery (Weld and Garrison), two Regiments of British and three of Native Infantry, with a Company of Sappers and Miners. An Ordnance Establishment has charge of the Arsenal and there is also a large Supply and Transport Staff. Cantonment boundaries extend as far as Bolarum covering a total area of 19 square miles, including many interspersed villages. New double-storied barracks have been erected for the European soldiers, and the quarters for the Native troops are also comfortably built. The country for many miles around undulates into hammocks with a few out-crops of underlying rock, crossed from East the West by green-stone dikes. Shady trees line the roads of the Cantonment, overshadowing the face of the country in here, with but little depth of soil in elevated parts. Cultivation is carried on in the dips and valleys, in several of which tanks have been constructed. Immediately to the south-west of the Cantonment is a large artificial reservoir or tank known as the Humma Bagar, about 12 miles in circumference.

The Parade ground is of great extent, upon it a Force of seven or eight thousand troops can be manoeuvred with ease. Close by is the Cemetery. A short distance from Secunderabad is the Cantonment of Trimulgherry, containing an entrenched camp. At Trimulgherry is the Military Prison, nicknamed "Windsor Castle." Adjoining Secunderabad Cantonment to the north is Solapur Cantonment. Here are stationed a Regiment of Cavalry, and one of Infantry.

MYSORE STATE (THE).

Native State in Southern India, lying between 11°36' and 15°3' N and 74°38' and 78°36' E consisting of an undulating tableland. Its form is that of a triangle apex to the south where both the Ghats converge in the Nilgiri Group. The general elevation is about 2,000 ft. sea level at the north and south frontiers about 8,000 ft. at the central. There are several isolated peaks rising to heights of 4,000 to 5,000 ft. The area of the State is 49,438 sq. miles; greatest length North to South is about 230 miles, East to West 290 miles. The name is that of the capital Mysore from Masur which commemorates the destruction of Mahabharata by Chamaunda the form under which the consort of Siva is worshipped as the tutelary Goddess of the ruling family. The country is naturally divided into two divisions the picturesque Malnad and the Madan comprising the luxuriant and prosperous part of the State. The hills cross the country longitudinally parallel to the Ghats ranges the greatest elevations being in the Baba Budans, 6,817 ft. in the West and Nandidroog in the East, 4,851 ft.

The drainage of the country with a slight exception finds its way to the Bay of Bengal, Kistna on the North, Cauvery on the South, Pennar, Ponnaiyar and Palur on the East. The only important stream which flows West in the Sharavathi which runs down the G. ats in the magnificent Gerosappa falls. There are no natural lakes in Mysore the streams are embanked at favourable points to form big and extensive reservoirs chief of them are Sulekere 40 miles circumference, Marikanave reservoir 90 miles and Krishnaraya Nagar (Kannambadi dam on the Cauvery).

The Malnad or East-rn face of the Western Ghats is clothed with magnificent timber and contains the richest flora. The top of the summits are bare of trees but covered with grass and herbs. The valleys descending from them are filled with woods, coffee, pepper and cardamoms are cultivated in this region.

Elephants range in the southern forests and are also found in Shimoga District, a special khedda department was formed for their capture in 1874 after small breaks, they are put into operation now and again. Tigers, bears and leopards are numerous. Bison, antelope, deer, wild hog and wolf, are met in different parts. Among birds peafowl are common in the West. Pelicans and numerous game birds and birds of gay plumage are found. Crocodiles are abundant in most of the western rivers, where mahoeer and other large fish are also to be found. The mango fly is a common pest in the mango season, spreading ophthalmia, mosquitoes are universal and white ants are insatiable in their ravages.

The season can be easily divided into three the rainy, cold and hot, the first commencing with the bursting of the monsoon followed by the cold and then the hot. The temperature is very agreeable in the rainy months. The mercury falls during the cold season to about 51° and in the hottest month rises at times to 96°.

The annual rain-fall ranges from '860' to 9' from the crest of the Western Ghats to the north centre diminishing rapidly eastwards. The cold season rains are scanty, keeps up only the pasture supply. A meteorological department has been in existence from 1898.

History—Dates from after the invasion of Alexander. The Great in 327 B.C. The State then came under the Dominion of Chandragupta Maurya. Tradition has it that, that the great King after renouncing his kingdom came with his Jain Teacher Bhadrabahu, who died in Sravana Belgola, tutored by his Royal disciple Chandragupta.

Ashoka sent some missionaries to Mahan Mandala. The North of Mysore came under the rule of the Sudarsa or Satavahana Dynasty, period extending from 2nd century B.C. to A.D. After them came the Kadambas, Pallavas, Gangas, the last of these ruled till the 11th century reaching its highest prosperity in the 9th century and Rajendra Chola put an end to the power of the Ganga Dynasty.

The North West of the country was in the hands of Chalukyas; after frequent conflicts with Pallavas and Rashtrakutas their power declined. Rashtrakutas reigned for about 200 years and in the revival of western Chalukyas they confined their sway for another 200 years. They in turn were supplanted by Kalachuris but only for a short time.

A local dynasty rose to power after the overthrow of the Gangas. They were the Hoyasas with their Capital at Dwarasamudra. They drove out the Cholas about 1116 A. D. from Mysore and the territory was considerably extended. The Mahomedans first invaded the country under Kafar in 1319, who sacked the city, defeated the king, carried him a prisoner and in a later expedition in 1326 the Capital was completely demolished.

About 1336 the Vijayanagar Kingdom rose and it soon became the paramount power in the South. During the 15th and 16th centuries the Vijayanagar kings bestowed on and confirmed to vassal chiefs, sundry tracts in Mysore on condition of military service and paying tribute. After the disaster at Talikota in 1565 only nominal allegiance was given to the Viceroy at Seringapatam and several chiefs declared independence. One of them being the Wodeyars of Mysore. They began absorbing all the states to the South and in 1610 they secured Seringapatam and by 1644 they became the dominant power in the South of the country. Bijapur and Golkonda had been trying all along to secure the Northern portions unsuccessfully. When Aurangzeb was appointed Viceroy of the Deccan the Bednur Kingdom was over-run. But the attempt on Seringapatam was repulsed by Kantharva the Mysore Raja. The invaders captured on their way Bangalore and Kolar and descending the Gahta, Vellore and Gingee. Saahji the father of Sivaji for his able military aid was awarded this jagir. Under him the Maratha element was introduced into Mysore. About 1644 the Marhal armies under Aurangzeb once more invaded Deccan. A new province was created in 1687, with Sirs, Tanuku Dt. as the capital of seven parganas. Bangalore was sold to the Raja of Mysore for 5 lakhs by the Tanjur Raja. The Province of Sirs was under the Moghals till 1757.

The origin of the Mysore family dates as back as 1899. Two Katriya Princes of the Yadava race helped the Wodeyar of Hadimadu and Vijaya one of them married his daughter and assumed the Government taking the title Odayar and professing the Jangama or the Lingayat religion. At the time of the fall of Vijayanagar Ohanna Raja IV was the king and his successors consolidated the acquisitions made. Kanthirva who ascended the throne in 1688 was the most distinguished that followed he strengthened the fortifications, established a mint for the first time and coined the Kanthirva coins and fanams which continued as the current national money of Mysore until the Mahomedan invasion. He was succeeded by Doddia, Deva Raja in whose reign Erode and Dharmapuram were captured and contributions were levied from Trichinopoly and other places. After his death Chikka Deva Raja came to the throne and in his time a regular postal system was established for the first time and he was followed by Doddia Krishna Raja. After him the ascendancy to the throne of Mysore began to decline and all power fell into the hands of the ministers Devarajad Nanjaraj and Haider Ali. Volunteer horsemen rose to prominence by his courageous acts and he expelled the Mahrattas who invaded the country and the title of Kishik Haider Bahadur was conferred on him by Nanjaraj. Nanjaraj was forcibly retired and Haider Ali was placed in charge of half the country to enable him to disburse the pay of the troops fallen into arrears. In 1760 the French Commander Count de Laury sought the aid of Haider and when he had gone away on expedition, his co-adjutor Khundoo Rao attempted to get rid of Haider but Haider gained the day and he made a new capital and named it Haidarnagar (now Nagar). He established a mint, issued coins in his own name and formed a dockyard and naval arsenal on the Coast. He had to contend with Mahrattas and Nizam and supported by the French against the British. During his last invasion on the British territories he died at his Camp A root on 7th December 1782. His son Tippu succeeded him but he had not the ability of his father; he bore the most inveterate hatred against the English and he had now and then wars with the British and as last defeated at Malavalli and he then opened negotiations with the English but before his accepting the terms offered, the fortress of Seringapatam was carried by assault on 4th May 1799 and his body was found among the slain. On mature deliberation it was decided to restore the descendant of the former Raja under British protection to the sovereignty of part of the dominions. The young prince Krishna Raja Wodeyar, five years old was placed on the throne on June 30—1799. Col Arthur Wellesley was invested with the civil and military control of the State. Purnaiya the Brahmin Minister of Haider and Tippu was made Dewan and Colonel Bary Close appointed resident in 1811 the Raja having come of age, was entrusted with the Government and Purnaiya died the following year. Though the reign began with brightest prospects, the Raja's extravagance and want of ability to govern soon brought the affairs to the verge of ruin.

By 1814, the treasure accumulated by Purnaiya, had been dissipated on worthless favourites. Revenue was realized under an oppressive system called 'Shark'. Offices were sold to the highest bidder. Jails were filled with prisoners awaiting sentence, to ward which the judges had no power. The British Government warned the Raja of the consequences of his reckless conduct and in 1835 Sir Thomas Munro, Governor of Madras visited Mysore to remonstrate with him, but to no purpose. A committee was then appointed to enquire into the affairs of Mysore and Lord William Bentinck, the Governor-General, resolved to act upon a clause of the original treaty and deprived the Raja of ruling power. In October 1831 the Raja peacefully surrendered the reins of Government to the British Commissioners appointed to administer the country. He was allowed to remain at the Capital and a liberal provision was made for him. The above Mysore Commission was headed in 1834 by Colonel Mark Cubben. Mr Cubben till his retirement in 1861 did several things, such as, abolition of petty taxes, increase of revenue, remedies of oppressive practices, etc. In 1855, Governor-General Lord Dalhousie visited Mysore and appreciated what had been done by Sir Mark Cubben and formed Judicial, Public Works and Educational Departments. The Raja had no male heir and he was not permitted to adopt on ground he was not a ruling chief. The Raja, however, exercised his right as a Hindu, adopted a son and that adoption was subsequently recognised. He died in 1868 at the age of 74; meanwhile there were many changes in the administration; the State was partitioned into Divisions and Districts. Revenue survey and land settlement, channel and forest conservancy, village schools and municipalities were brought into operation before the recognition by the British of a successor to the throne, and during the minority of the Raja. The young Prince was under European tutors, well trained and on his attaining his majority, the reversion of Mysore was carried out on 26th March 1891, in terms embodied in an instrument of transfer, superseding all former treaties. The powers of the Raja were defined and the subsidy to be paid in lieu of military assistance, was increased. Mr O. Rangachari was appointed Diwan with a small council for his assistance. In his time a representative assembly was formed. Owing to disastrous effects of famine in 1876-8, expenditure was much cut down by dispensing with European Officers, abolition of several posts and by reduction in judicial offices and jails. The British Government gave relief by postponement of the levy of the enhanced subsidy of 10 lakhs for 5 years. In 1893 Sir K. Seshadri Ayyar succeeded as Diwan and during his tenure of office Mysore was raised to a high state of prosperity. Several improvements have been made in his time. Every branch of the administration was strengthened and improved. Gold mining was fostered in such a manner as to bring in substantial addition to the coffers of the State. Civil Service Examinations of a high standard were instituted. Departments for archaeology, meteorology and geology, for management of religious and charitable institutions were formed and to crown all, the Cauvery falls were harnessed and the first electric power works in India installed.

On the death of Sir K. Seshadri Ayyar in 1901, Mr P. N. Krishnamurti, a descendant of Mr Purnaiya, was appointed Diwan and in 1901, he was succeeded by Mr V. P. Madhava Rao. In 1894, Maharaja Chama Rajendra Wodeyar died and the Maharani became Regent during the minority of her eldest son Krishna Raja Wodeyar. This young prince was trained under European tutors and was vested with power in 1903 on attaining his majority, by the Viceroy in person and he is the present ruler. He has married Princess Pratapa Kumari from the Rajput House of the Rana of Vana in Kathiawar. He has made Primary and Secondary Education free and has provided 18 per cent of the total revenue of the State for education. To develop the resources of the state richly endowed by nature with mineral deposits, forests, etc., the services of specialists have been secured and on the basis of their information the Government are engaging in enterprises of considerable magnitude. To ensure a plentiful supply of water for the hydro-electric works at Srirangapatna falls and to increase the capacity of these works originally opened by His Highness on 30 June 1902 a huge dam has been thrown across the Cauvery river at Kannambadi Industries, such as distillation of oil from sandalwood, soap making and casting small machinery have also been introduced. The Maharaja's only brother, His Highness Sri Kanthirava Narasimharaja Wodeyar Bahadur C. O. I. R., known as Yuvaraja is much interested in Reform and as the extraordinary member of the State Council has rendered useful service to the State chiefly in improving the military administration. The present Dewan is Amin ul Mulk Mirza Md. Ismail C. I. S. O. S.

Tour.—During the year the Maharajah toured in Northern India and visited Dehra Dun, Nainital and Badrinath.

Political.—Their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess and Cannought paid a visit to the State and there was an enthusiastic reception. Their Royal Highnesses visited places of interest in the City and the historic town of Srirangapatna. The question of surplus revenue of the Civil and Military Station which was under correspondence with the Government of India for some years past was settled. The State paid to the British Government its annual subsidy of 35 lakhs of rupees.

Representative Assembly.—There were two sessions of the Assembly during the year in which there were discussions about bills to amend (1) the Criminal Tribes Regulations, (2) Vaccination Regulations, (3) Chief Court Regulations and to provide for the levy of coffee cess, and resolutions relating to revised rules regarding Mysore Civil Service, Municipal Regulations and the Budget.

Industry & Commerce.—Among the several subjects which came up for discussion and consideration the Government passed orders sanctioning (1) Development of the industry, (2) Development of minor and cottage industries and (3) Hand spinning of yarn.

Agribusiness.—The Board of Agriculture met four times in the year and formed 5 sub-committees. The subjects dealt with are (1) Rural Development, (2) Live Stock, (3) Development of coffee cultivation, (4) Sericulture and (5) Horticulture. The Government approved of the recommendation of the Board that the Village Panchayats which are to be formed with the Local Board Scheme should in future, be required to maintain breeding bulls.

Important events and administrative measures.—Floods.—The abnormal and heavy rainfall in the Malnad parts of the State and the adjoining British Territory, brought about unusual floods. About 455 villages were wholly or partly submerged, about 6,670 houses were damaged and over 77 lakhs as also a number of channels were branched or otherwise damaged. The estimated value of property lost was about 51 lakhs. An extent of 18,750 acres was affected by flood, the loss of crops and damage caused to land was about 9 lakhs. A sum exceeding 4 lakhs of rupees was spent on relief in the flood affected areas including amounts got by public subscription. A sum of 5,10,000 has been allocated by Government for grant of loans at a concessive rate of 4 per cent interest for supply of shed materials, for grant of Tahavi and land improvement loans. Gratuities relief has also been accorded by Government to a great extent to destitute persons and there has been remission of kist to the extent of Rs. 67,335-5-10.

Separation of Judicial and Executive Functions -- This separation scheme was extended to Tanker and Steam Division. The system of Magistrate Courts was introduced in the Thiruvananthapuram District as a structural measure.

Cultivated area and future.—The total recorded area of the State was 16,943,022 acres, of which alluvial lands partly or wholly rent free is 1,395,523 acres, not available for occupancy being forests, etc., 8,562,951 acres, leaving a net extent of 8,000,866 acres available for cultivation.

Survey and Settlement.—The original survey operations of the State having been completed long ago, they were, during the year confined only to alienated villages, at the request of the holders. Revision Settlement was introduced in 7 Taluks which resulted in the increase of revenue by Rs. 1,55,405 and there remain 9 Taluks to be resettled.

Legislation.—The Legislative Council met 3 times during the year. Bills to amend the Mysore Motor Vehicles Regulations 1913 and the Mysore University Regulation 1915 were considered and passed. The Indian Penal Code amendment, Civil Procedure Code, Criminal Tribes Regulations, and 7 other bills were passed. Additional rules under some enactments in force were issued and in some cases there were revision of rules.

AGRICULTURE

The Director of Agriculture is the head of the Agricultural (Civil Veterinary, Sericultural & Forest)
Departments in Mysore with his office situated to the east of the Central College on the Sheeshadri Road, attached to the office buildings and under the control of the Director are the Agricultural Chemical Laboratory, the Myocological Laboratory, the Entomological Laboratory and the Insensary. An Experimental Farm connected with the department is situated at Hebbal, five miles from Bangalore. Three other Experimental Farms have been started, one in Nagraballi, four miles from Mysore, one in Babbar, three miles from Hinyur, in Chitaldurg district and one in Marthur, two miles from Sagar in Shimoga district. The Agricultural School also under the Director of Agriculture, has class rooms with laboratory equipment on the Hebbal Farm for Physics, Chemistry Botany, Mycology and Entomology and for theoretical and practical work in Agriculture Carpentry, Blacksmithy and Fitting.

A Veterinary Hospital for treatment of sick animals on the Farm and in the neighbourhood has recently been opened. The Veterinary Asst-ant in charge gives instruction to the students of the school in Veterinary Science, both theoretical and practical.

A Students Hostel attached to the school is located on the farm where quarters for living have also been provided. An Implement Depot is attached to the Department in which machines and implements specially adapted to the agricultural requirements of the State are stocked and sold to the ryots. As far as possible local manufacturers are encouraged to stock approved implements made by them in this Depot. When definite results in regard to experiments in the various branches of the Department are achieved, such results are published in the form of bulletins which are supplied to agriculturists in the State who apply for them free of cost. A District Staff of three Agricultural Inspectors for each District have been appointed in the Eastern and Western Divisions of the State to work under the Deputy and Assistant Directors, respectively. A Dairy and Breeding station has been attached to the Agricultural School at the Experimental Farm
Hebbal, for giving the students practical lessons in Dairying, etc.

BANGALORE.

Bangalore is a city situated in 12° 57' N Lat and 77° 35' E Long, and is 71 miles north of Seringa petam. It is 216 miles by rail, west of Madras. It covers an area of about 224 square miles, and is divided into two distinct parts, viz the City or Pettah, which is the old Native Town of Bangalore proper, and the Cantonment, or Civil and Military station. Bangalore is the seat of Government for the Mysore State, and the Civil and Military station is the head-quarters of the Bangalore Brigade of the IX (Sassunderabad) division of the Army. It is also the head-quarters of the Resident in Mysore and Chief Commissioner of Coorg.

The name Bangalore is a corruption of Bengaluru, which is probably derived from Bengala a kind of bean (hence the proverbial 'City of Beans'), and the following story has been related in connection with it. One day, when King Vira Ballala was hunting, he became separated from his attendants, and, losing his way, wandered about till nightfall. At last, faint and weary, he came upon a solitary hut, in which was an old woman, to whom he applied for something to eat. She had nothing better to offer him than some Bengalu (green beans boiled in a little water), which, however, he was glad to get, and sharing them with his horse, passed the night under the shelter of the lowly hut. The incident speedily became known, and the village (dw.) which sprang up, thence took the name of Bengaluru. Bangalore has long enjoyed a reputation for salubrity, and a climate suitable for Europeans. Many hale, hearty people of an older generation have settled there; children thrive there. The hot season is from March to May, courts, schools and colleges have their vacations at this time. The weather is dry, and often untempered by any breeze; the maximum heat is from 90° to 95° occasionally 98°. The mornings, even at this time, are fairly cool, with sunset the temperature falls rapidly and the nights are quite bearable. The S.W. monsoon breaks in June, accompanied by high winds and cloudy days, there after the weather is cold and breezy, and the close of the rainy season in November is marked by dense fogs which prevail all over the country in December and January, when fairly warm clothing is advisable.

The City stands in the centre of the Mysore table-land, about 1,000 feet above the sea, the general level being broken by a few slight elevations. The old Fort stands in the extreme south-west, north of which is the Pettah. The Fort is said to have been originally built of mud in 1607 by a local chieftain, the Pettigar Kempe Gowda. The present fortifications of rubble stone were built in 1761.

"AMRUTANJAN" and pain are mutually offensive by Hyder Ali from plans by a French Engineer. The old Palace of Hyder Ali and Tippu Sultan was used the officers until 1874, when they fell into decay, but a small portion was restored in 1908. Some feel that, notwithstanding its decay, one of which was Sir David Baird's prison for three years and ten months. Beyond the Fort is the Lal Bagh, or Horticultural Garden, one of the finest in India. The City comprises an area of 18-74 square miles and trade is brisk in cotton and grain.

The Civil and Military Station stretches away towards the north-east, terminating in the Native quarters of the Cantonment Bazaar, beyond which are the suburbs of St. John's Hill, Benson Town and Cleveland Town, dotted with the cottages of a large number of pensioned Europeans, and Fraser Town, with Richards Town, Cox Town, and Wheeler Extension recently opened up to relieve the congestion in Malakpet. The large open space between the two Native quarters contains the Race Course, the Gubbon Park, the High Ground, and the Parade-ground. Here also are situated the chief Government offices, the houses of well-to-do European residents and the principal Hotel. The localities in the South are Mohanmud Town and Langford Town, Shoolay, Nillandra and Ulsur. The Cantonment, or Civil and Military Station covers an area of about 184 square miles and was assigned to the British Government for purposes of political and administrative control, the Maharajah of Mysore having renounced the exercise of jurisdiction within it. It is officered by a British Resident of the first class, who is also the Chief Commissioner of the Province of Coorg. In it are situated the Barracks and Lines of the troops. Here also are the residential quarters for Europeans, Telegraph and Post Offices, schools, banks, shops and places of amusement and recreation. The Central Jail covers a large space to the west of Gubbon Park, and is built on the radiating principle, with workshops for many trades. The Central College to the south-east of the Jail, contains a hall with a roof supported by light monolithic columns, 30 feet high, quarried in the neighbourhood. The Maharaja's fine Palace is on the high ground, in the extreme north. The new buildings of the Indian Institute of Science lie in open ground to the extreme north west of the station. There are numerous churches of different Christian denominations and many Hindu temples and Mahomedan Mosques, as well as several excellent schools for European children.

Places of Interest

THE BANGALORE CENTRAL JAIL—Is situated on Seahadri Road, the Central College is to its east, the Race Course to the north and the Petah to the south west. It has a large industry; cloths, towels, table cloths, durries, woollen pile carpets, etc., are manufactured. Rope spinning, carpenters, blacksmiths, basket and leather work are also done here. There is an extensive garden attached to it which yields all the vegetables needed for the prisoners with spare quantities for sale to the public. Superintendent—Mahomed Obaidulla. Medical Officer—G. S. David. Chief Jailor—Mallikarjunaappa.

THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, MYSORE—For details See page 1178.

COLE'S PARK—Which is in charge of the Municipality of the Civil and Military Station, is situated to the West of St. John's Hill. This is again becoming a pleasant place of resort to the residents of St. John's Hill, as the Volunteer Band now plays in it when not otherwise engaged. The Tennis Courts are used by members of the Wesley Guild.

CUBBON PARK—The Cubbon Park was originally laid out by the late Genl. Sankey, R. H. It is named after Sir Mark Cubbon, a very popular Chief Commissioner of Mysore, and covers an area of more than 100 acres. It is situated East, North and South of the public Office, from the balcony of which a fine view is obtained both of the Park and the surrounding country. The grounds include the Government Museum, the Sir Seahadri Iyer Memorial Hall and Statue, an equestrian statue in bronze of Sir Mark Cubbon by Baron Marochetti, and a white marble statue of the late Queen Victoria by Sir Thomas Brock in Queen's Road. A statue of which the pedestal is erected to match this one, is a memorial to the late King Edward, on the north side opposite the New Telegraph Office. Land has recently been acquired for the south-west and various improvements are being carried out, which includes a new Bandstand facing the Serahadi Hall for the Military Bands which now play here. The Country Club is built to the west of the Serahadi Memorial Hall.

The Daily Memorial Hall, Library and Mythic Society Premises, are situated on the Cenotaph Road, Bangalore City. The New Y. M. C. A. Buildings are also there.

THE DURBAN OFFICES.—The Mysore State Public Offices, situated at the west end of Cubbon Park, are the largest buildings in Bangalore. They consist of a fine two-storied structure in the classical style with verandah all round, the entire length being 886 feet to which have been added two large extensions on the North and South sides. The Mysore Survey Office near the Cenotaph Promenade is another fine block of buildings.

THE MYSORE GOVERNMENT MUSEUM.—Established in 1885 is open to the public from 8 A.M. to 5 P.M. daily, Wednesdays and a few special holidays included. The present building which was opened to the public in 1877 is situated in the Cubbon Park (Sydney Road), the original building was in Museum Road giving the road its name. Among other specimens on view, there is a collection of Mysore coins, a large collection of the mineral products of the Province a good collection of the local fauna and various antiquaries. There is also a Library and Reading Room.

THE LAL BAGH.—Is the Mysore Government Botanical Gardens. It is about two miles on the south-west of the Cantonment—a very pleasant ride or drive. This beautiful pleasure was first laid out in the time of Hyder Ali and was greatly enlarged by Tipu Sultan. It now possesses a Picnic Pavilion, a much needed addition, and the spacious and lofty Glass House in imitation of the Crystal Palace in which the Horticultural Shows are held. There is also an equestrian statue in bronze of H. H. the late Maharaja Krishnaraja Wodeyar Bahadur of C. S. I., erected near the Romarium, the same having been removed from Mysore where it was originally set up. The Gardens are over 100 acres in extent and among the finest in India, well worthy of a visit. A large Farm for experimental work and plantation for demonstrating Economic Botany is being developed close by and a Seed Depot Economic Garden and Herbarium have been newly started. A small Menagerie is maintained which is a source of much amusement to Natives and European children. Superintendent—H. O. Javareya, B.A.

H. H. THE MAHARAJA'S PALACE.—Is situated north-west of the Civil and Military Station and south of the Cantonment Railway Station. It is approached from the High Ground by Palace Road and from the City by the Race Course. The main building is two-storied, and is designed after Windsor Castle. It covers an area of about 4,000 square feet. His Highness the Maharaja resides in the Palace for three or four months in the year. To the north-west of the Palace is H. H. The Maharaja's Polo Ground, one of the finest in India.

INDIAN INSTITUTE OF SCIENCE.—This Institute for post-graduate study and research in science is situated to the west of the Hebbal Rifle Range, on the Yeswanthpur Road, about 5 miles out of the C. and M. Station.

Patron—His Excellency The Viceroy of India

Director—Dr. M. O. Forster, F.R.S.

The following departments are now open—

1. Department of General and Organic Chemistry—Head of the Department and Prof. of Organic Chemistry—J. J. Sudborough, D.Sc., F.R.S. Professor of General and Inorganic Chemistry—H. E. Watson, D.Sc., A.I.C.

2. Department of Bio-Chemistry—Professor—Gilbert John Fowler, D.Sc., F.R.S. Asst. Prof. for Mechanical Engineering—J. H. C. Kann, D.Sc.

3. Department of Electrical Technology—Prof.—Cuthbert Smith, M.A., D.Sc., F.R.S. Asst. Prof.—F. N. Mowdewalla, M.A., B.Sc., A.I.E.E. Lecturer and Demonstrator—B. S. Gupta, B.Sc.

The Session opens on the first Wednesday in July and ends on the last Wednesday in March. No fees are charged but students who reside in the quarters are required to pay Rs. 10 per mensem in addition to their share of messing expenses and to deposit Rs. 150. Further information may be had on application by letter to the Director.

MAJO MEMORIAL HALL.—This imposing looking building was erected in memory of the late Lord Mayo, Governor-General of India. In 1888 it was made over by the British Resident to the C. and M. Municipal Municipal Commission on condition that the upper floor was available free of charge for all meetings of a public character. The Hall, which is now fitted with an installation of electric lights is let rented as formerly for dances, concerts, wedding receptions etc. The municipal offices are on the ground floor, the Hall being used for all meetings of the Municipal Commissioners.

CENOTAPH ROAD CEMETERIES.—These lie to the south of Richmond town and the Protestant Cemetery contains some very handsome tombstones. A cenotaph is erected here to the memory of the officers and men of the 14th (Queen's) Lancers who died while serving in this country. The Roman Catholic Cemetery adjoins on the west and the Protestant Indian Christian Cemetery on the south. More ground for the Protestant Cemetery was enclosed on the north and the Scotch portion dedicated in August 1916.

CEMETERY CEMETERIES.—These are situated to the N.E. of St. John's Hill and some of the gravestones are of very old date, one of them going back to 1808. The late General John Wheeler Cleveland (after whom Wheeler Road and Cleveland town are named) and his wife were buried here. The latter in 1874 and the former in 1893. A red granite monument has been erected in the Protestant Cemetery to the memory of the H. C. Officers of the 42nd Company of the Royal Engineers "who died in peace and war." The Roman Catholic Cemetery to the west contains a grotto in which there is a plaster representation of the Crucifixion, a very life-like work.

Old Protestant Cemetery.—It is not everybody in Bangalore who knows of the existence of this now disused place of interment. It is near the Cavalry Riding School, behind the Church of England Soldiers' Institute, and well worth a visit. There are some huge grave-stones and monuments bearing quaint inscriptions; one of the oldest of which dates back to 1805. This cemetery is open to visitors on Thursdays and Saturdays.

The Race Course.—It is at the extreme West of High Ground, and is gained by the road leading past the Residency. The track, $\frac{1}{2}$ mile round, is considered one of the best in India. The big Race Meeting is held in July, with Spring, Summer, Autumn and Winter Meetings thrown in whenever practicable. The Gymkhana Club's Races are also held here. Various improvements were made to the Grand Stand and first enclosure in 1912 and the Turf track was also widened. Secretary—H. Doane.

THE GENERAL MARKET.—Is situated at the junction of Broadway and New Market Roads, and is enclosed by long rows of miscellaneous shops, stores, etc. A new range of buildings were completed in 1912 for the "Evening Bazaar" which adjoins the Market and which is called "Richards Square." The road known as New Market Road, was closed from the north and south sides and traffic diverted by the west of the Lady Curzon Hospital. New gates presented by Mr. Ahmed Saib, were fixed up at the south entrance to the Bowring and Curzon Hospitals. The construction of a market better suited to the present requirements of the people is in contemplation by the Municipality opposite to the present one. Market Surgeon—J. Sawaman.

INTERNAL SERVICE TRANSPORT LINES.—These buildings are the head-quarters of the Mysore Government Transport Service, and were completed in 1903. They are on the Tankur Road, two miles out of Bangalore. The grounds attached to the building are well kept.

MYNOR HORTICULTURAL GARDENS, LAL BAGH, BANGALORE.—Dir—G. H. Krumpholtz, F.R.S. & Shodhi Ganga Garden H. O. Javaraya, L. Ag., F.R.S. & M.S., Asst. Superd.—M. K. Sitharam Chetty, L. Ag. Asst. Economic Botanist—M. Narayana Reddi, B. Sc. (Ostentab.)

STATUE OF QUEEN VICTORIA.—This monument (by Sir Thomas Brock), was erected from contributions by H. H. the Maharaja of Mysore, his people, and the residents of the Civil and Military Station in memory of the late Queen-Empress of India. It stands at the south-east entrance of Cubbon Park, not far from St. Mark's Church, and was unveiled by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales (now King George V) in February 1906. The Statue is of white marble, while the pedestal, which is 18 feet high, is of Mysore gray granite. It is enclosed by a circle of ornamental railings and four obsolete cannons have been placed in position around it.

RICHMOND TOWN PARK.—Is a small piece of fenced ground laid out with flower beds and paths, in charge of the Station Municipality. It is provided with a Bandstand, but no band plays there now and it is resorted to mostly by pensioners, ayahs and the children of Richmond Town. There is a Municipal Nursery garden established here now.

SEREMADRI MEMORIAL HALL.—Erected by public subscription aggregating over a lakh of rupees, in the memory of the late Bahadur Sahib Sir K. Seshadri Iyer, K.C.S.I., a former Dewan of Mysore, who ruled the destinies of the State for 18 years, from 1888 to 1901 with conspicuous success, is located at the south-west end of the Cubbon Park. The memorial includes a bronze statue of the deceased statesman, by Colton, unveiled in November 1912 by H. E. Lord Hardinge, Viceroy and Governor-General of India, and a Public Library. This large and excellently situated building has been in use for the last 8 years the Cosmopolitan Club occupying a portion of it and the Sloyd Classes and Educational Museum, which have been recently vacated in favour of the newly established Mechanical School of Engineering the rest, without prejudice, of course to the occasional use of the building for such other public purposes as meetings, etc.

SIR K. SEREMADRI IYER'S STATUE.—This is a bronze statue representing the late Sir K. Seshadri Iyer, K.C.S.I., in his Durbar dress. It is erected in front of the Memorial Hall which stands in a conspicuous part of the Cubbon Park amidst charming surroundings and on a lawn tastefully laid out with excellent roads and approaches all round. The unveiling ceremony was performed on the 30th November 1912 by H. E. Lord Hardinge of Penshurst, Viceroy and Governor-General of India, who admitted that the statue is a rare work of art. The statue is a faithful likeness of the great statesman whom it is intended to commemorate. It was made in England by W. B. Colton a sculptor of acknowledged reputation, and stands on a pedestal designed by the late P. B. Baghelvalu Naidu of the Palace Improvement Division. It is 6 feet in height. All expenses, including the statue, cost the Committee nearly Rs. 25,000.

THE STATION PUBLIC OFFICES.—Are adjacent to the Mayo Hall with entrances on the ground floor from the South Parade and Residency Roads. The building which is a handsome structure, is in the Florentine style and is one story high. Besides the Resident's Treasury the offices of the Collector and District Magistrate, the Deputy Superintendent, the Magistrate and Second Magistrate's Courts, the District Superintendent of Police, the Amildar, the Sub-Assistant Inspector of Schools, &c., are accommodated here.

TATA SILK FARM AND SCHOOL.—Will well repay a visit. It is two miles to the south-east of the Lal Bagh, on the Yedder Road. Originally the property of the late Mr. J. N. Tata of Bombay and subsidised by the Mysore Government for instruction in Sericulture to village school masters. The Farm was recently made over to the Salvation Army, who have introduced their Patent Automatic-loom, so that in addition to the rearing of silkworms and reeling of silk, weaving is now done on the farm. Students attending a six or twelve months' course of study are taught the various pursuits in the Mulberry, Worm-rearing, Reeling and Weaving Departments. Superintendent—E. Jackson.

FRANCE TOWN AND RICHARDS TOWN—Are two suburbs to the north of the Civil and Military Station. The first was called after F. M. France I.C.S., C.M.S., C.B.I., a former Resident of Mysore and the second after F. J. Richards, I.C.S., who was a President of the Municipal Commission and Collector of the Civil and Military Station. In Richards Town there are some very fine houses and Park, which, though small is one of best in the Station.

CHITALDRUG

District in the North of the Mysore State, between 13° 35' and 15° 21' N. Lat., and 75° 8' and 77° 5' E. Long. Area 4,022 square miles. Languages.—Telugu and Canarese.

CHITALDRUG is the chief town of the District of the same name situated to the North of the Mysore Province; the M. & S. M. Railway traverses the district. Chitaldrug is 24 miles from the Holalkere railway station and 136 miles North West of Bangalore, on the Bangalore-Harihara Road. The town is surrounded with a line of old fortifications. The Mahal or Palace in the inner fort, built by Tippoo Sultan is used as the Veterinary Hospital. Before it was an enormous thorough for watering elephants, which was found on the hill, and was cut from a single stone. To the West, is a rugged and picturesque group of hills, as the Ankli maff. This is a curious series of subterranean chambers, now regularly built round with masonry. In them are shrines, lingams, baths and pedestals; the style of the architecture is about 500 years old, but the caverns no doubt existed long before. About 8 miles South of Chitaldrug is Jog maff, a hill 4,000 feet above sea level. It is a convenient resort from the intense heat of hot months.

HASSAN

A District in the Mysore State between N Lat. 12° 30' and 13° 35' and between East Long 75° 45'. It is bounded on the North by the Kolar District; on the South-west by South Canara; on the South partly by Coorg; and on the East by Tumkur Area, 1,578 square miles. Language.—Cannarese.

Hassan—The Head-Quarter Town of the District of that name, and a station on the Mysore State Railway. The scenery about Hassan is particularly fine. The temperature is low, the mean being about 73°. In January, the minimum of 48.7 is reached, and in the hot months the heat which is never very great, is modified by sea-breezes from the West coast. There are many coffee plantations in the vicinity. There is a Government Observatory here.

KADUR

A District, forming the South Western portion of the Nagar Division, lying between 15° 19' N. and 15° 58' Lat., and between 75° 5' 16° 25' E. Long. It is bounded on the West by the Western Ghats on the North by Shimoga; on the East by Chitaldurg and on the South by Hassan. Area 2,391 square miles. Languages—Kannaree and Hindustani.

The chief town of the District is Chikmagalur. The District contains the loftiest range on the Mysore tableland the Baba Budan Hill's a horse-shoe shaped chain forming a ridge 6,000 feet above sea level, and containing a large number of Coffee and other estates. The Talhatu Peak, 6,155 ft. high, has on its summit a bungalow, which is a favorite hot weather resort. Tiger, Sambhur and other large game are found in these hills. Chikmagalur is 25 miles from the Kadur Station of the M. & S. M. Railway. The main street of the town is one and a half miles long, and there are many Mhat (madan) traders. At certain seasons high East winds render the town very unhealthy, but wide belts of trees have been planted to try and mitigate this evil.

DASHATRI PETA—The Shrine of the Mohammedan Saint Bababudan and a place of pilgrimage for Mohammedans.

KALATHRI—A health resort about 16 miles from Birur M. & S. M. By Junction.

KEMMANAGUNDI—Iron Mines just being explored. The largest industrial concern in Mysore under the Mysore Durbar connected by ropeways and trams from Bhadravati.

SHINGARI—The Seat of the Jagadguru Sri Shrinivasaiah.

KALASA—With a big temple of Sri Kuleswara Swami is noted for Arcanum.

ANTHARGATTE—A place near the Ajampur M. & S. M. By is noted for its Jatra in February each year, when a big cattle show is held at its adjacent.

TALUQS—Chikmagalur Kadur, Koppa, Mudigere and Tankere. Narasimharajapura. (Sub-Tal.)

KOLAR

KOLAR.—A town and District Head-quarters in the Mysore State, not to be confounded with the Kolar Gold Field (q. v.); it is 11 miles by good road from the Bowringpet Junction of the Madras and Southern Maharashtra Railway and connected by rail.

The town is one of great antiquity, it contains a very old temple and other interesting remains. It was the burial place of Fatah Ali, Hyder Ali's father and his Makbara, a fine old building, is still maintained by State endowment. Hyder Ali frequently visited Kolar as a pleasure resort. North-west of the town are the Kolar Satharanga Parvatha, the highest peak of which is over 4,000 ft. above sea level; the sides of the hills are mostly bare and rocky, but the top is a fine plateau, with many villages and much cultivation. There is one Cigarette factory at Bowringpet. There is a Normal and Industrial Institute attached to the American Mission.

It forms the eastern portion of the Nunddroog Division, lying between 13° 6' and 13° 36' N. Lat. and between 78° 5' and 78° 38' E. Long. It is bounded on the North and North-east by Bellary and Channarayana, on the South and South-east by North Arcot and Salem; on the West by the Bangalore and Tumkur Districts. Area, 5,173 square miles. Languages.—Telugu, Hindustani, Kanarese and Tamil.

TALUKAS.—Bagavalli, Bowringpet, Chickballapur, Chintamani, Goribidnur, Kolar, Malur, Malbarga, Sidlaghatta and Srirangapatna (Sub-Taluk).

KOLAR GOLD FIELDS.

These gold fields occupy a small tract of country about sixty miles from Bangalore, in the East of the Mysore State, and East of a low ridge of hills, they stretch North and South for about 40 miles, the width varying from 1½ to 4 miles. About 60 square miles are held by the several Companies. The Gold Fields Railway connects the field with the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway by the junction at Bowringpet. About 30,000 persons are now employed on the mines, many being conversant European miners.

The gold bearing strata has a tendency to run towards the Dharwar Gold Fields, which are probably part of the same geological formation. Power for working the mines is derived from the Curvery Electric Power Works at Sivrasamudram, whence 4,000 H P of electrical energy is regularly received and arrangements are now being made to increase this to 6,000 H P, which will probably enable the mines to do without steam power altogether. The field is almost destitute of vegetation, and the scenery is dotted and scarred over with piles of crushed and spent quartz and cyanide sand, in appearance is a typical gold mining settlement.

The mining camps are in the Kolar District, the Head-quarters of which is Channarayana, 9 miles from Bowringpet.

The Dy Commr and the District Magte of the District holds his Court at the Travellers' Bungalow, Oorgaum.

The Special Magistrate's Court is also located at Channarayana.

MYSORE.

A District in the South of the State situated between 11°34' and 15°35' and 75°7' and 77°24' N. Long. It is bounded on the North by Hassan and Tumkur Districts; East by Bangalore District and the Madras District of Coimbatore; South by the Nulgeri and Malabar Collectorate; and West by Coorg. Languages.—Kannarese, Hindustani, Tamil, Marathi, English and Telugu.

The Head-quarters of the State Departments are at Bangalore. Mysore, the titular Capital of the Native State of the same name, is situated on the north-western side of the Chamundi Hills. It is 36 miles by rail from Bangalore. The town has been much improved of late years, and the newest portion of it (called after the late Maharaja), Chamarajapura, and other extensions have more than doubled its area in the past few years.

The Public Offices are to the West of the town in the Gordon Park. Near these are the Maharani's College, the Law Courts, the Maharajah's College and Roman Catholic Church. The fine Curzon Park was opened in 1903, just before the installation of the Maharajah. It is beautifully laid out with shady walks and nooks, parkettes and fountains. It extends along the northern and western sides of the old Fort. Near the Park enclosure are the Club, Town and Masonic Halls, Post and Telegraph offices, etc. There is a Hotel, "the Gordon," and an Anglican Church, "St. Bartholomew's." The fine new Palace of the Maharajah is within the Fort and well worthy of a visit. The building is Hindu in design, and, with the exception of some fine pictures, shows little of the influence of European art. The front contains a very fine Darbar Hall. The summer palace is East of the Fort. Nearby are the Maharajah's stables and a good Zoological Garden in which is a well planned "mass." The Race Course, one of the best in Southern India, is near the foot of the hill, and in its centre is the Polo ground. European residents mostly live to the East of the town. The old Government House is now a guest house for European visitors. Near it is the house which was, for some years, occupied by the first Duke of Wellington, then Colonel Wellesley.

In the eastern most portion of the city, and on the motor road to the top of the Chamundi Hills is the artistically laid out Narasimharaya boulevards. The road from here to the South leads to the beautifully laid out Hardinge circle with greens, and good lights in the evening decorating it.

The City is lit with electricity from the falls of the Cauvery at Sivasamudram.

TALUKS.—Chamarajnagar, Gundlupet, Heggaddevankote, Hunsur, Krishnarajpeta, Malavalli, Mandya, Mysore, Nagamangala, Nanjangud, Seringapatam, T. Narasipur and Yedotore.

SANDUR STATE

Area, 166 square miles Population 11,648

Sandur lies within the district of Bellary. A section of hills surrounds it and much of the State consists of forests where sandalwood and other trees grow in abundance.

The family of the Raja counts back to a Maharaja officer in the army of Bijapur, a collateral descendant according to tradition with the Bhonslas of Satara. The grandson of this officer seized the country from a Follower of the Badur or hunter tribe, a holder nominally subject to Bijapur and was subsequently confirmed in it by a grant from Sambhaji, who conferred on him the title of Samant.

In 1817 Sir Thomas Munro reduced the fort and valley on behalf of the Peshwa but in the following year they were restored to Sir Rao and in 1826 they were granted to him and his heirs in perpetuity.

In 1874 the title of "Raja" was conferred on the Chief as an hereditary distinction.

The present Chief of the State was born in 1862. He was married on the 28th June 1906 to Tara Bai, sister of the Chief of Ahilpur in the Bombay Presidency, and has a daughter.

THE TRAVANCORE STATE.

Description.—This (the southern portion of the ancient division of Kerala) is a Native State, situated between 8° 1' N' Lat. and 7° 18' N' Lat. and between 76° 18' E Long. and 77° 55' E Long. It is bounded on the North by the Native State of Cochin and the British District of Coimbatore, on the East by the British Districts of Madras and Tinnevely, on the South and West by the Indian Ocean. The extreme length of Travancore from North to South is 174 miles, its extreme breadth being 75 miles. Area, 783,494 square miles. Population, 4,000,000 as per the census of 1931. The State is in subsidiary alliance with the British Government to which it pays a tribute of Rs. 5,00,000 a year. It is divided for administrative purposes into 84 taluks. Irvayndrum is the chief town and the residence of the Maharajah. Languages are Malayalam in the North and Tamil in the South. Hindunism is the prominent religion and its followers constitute over 8-8th, the Christians form over a fourth and the Mahomedans over one fifteenth of the population.

Travancore is one of the most picturesque portions of Southern India. The mountains which separate it on the East from the British districts on the Cochin and Coimbatore Coast, and which at some points rise to an elevation of 8,000 feet above the sea, are clothed with magnificent primeval forest; while the belt of flat country, to an average distance of about 10 miles inland from the sea, is covered with an almost unbroken mass of coconut and areca palms which, in a great measure, constitute the wealth of the country. The whole surface is undulating, and presents a series of hills and valleys, traversed from East to West by many rivers, the floods of which arrested by the peculiar action of the Arabian Sea on the coast, spread themselves out into numerous lakes or lagoons scattered here and there by artificial canals, and forming an inland line of smooth water-communication which extends nearly the whole length of the coast, and is of the utmost value when the sea itself is closed for navigation during the monsoon. Managad with its numerous villages, palm groves, and extensive swamps of rice resembles in some respects the neighbouring district of Tinnevely, except that unlike Tinnevely, it is nowhere sterile. Northward, this fertile plain is succeeded by the wooded and rugged surface of the Malayalam country. The rich and variegated tract along the coast is finely contrasted with the mountainous white farther inland. The hill scenery has peculiar beauties among which are the wild, rocky and precipitous ascents and fantastic forms of the mountains in the southern parts. Farther North, the mountain chain becomes less bold a few rugged cliffs and conical summits alone breaking the sameness of its outline. The high range breaks into clusters of hills and the valleys are studded with temples and churches. Indeed, the numerous houses and gardens, scattered thickly over the country, give it an appearance entirely different from that of the eastern coast. Managad, Colachel, Vishniam Poonderry, Angengo Quilon, Ponnem and Alleppey are seaport towns of which Alleppey, Quilon and Colachel are by far the most important, the others being frequented only by small native craft. The hill region is so extensive, and so marked a feature of the State, that it merits special notice. The mountains are of every variety of elevation, climate and vegetation. Some tracts are even now considered inaccessible. Certain portions have been taken up by European and native capitalists, by whom the natural fertility of the soil is being turned to good account. Some of the loftier mountains are entirely detached except near their bases, from the neighbouring heights, they then have a precipitous descent towards the West and are connected on that side with a succession of low hills which diminish in altitude as they approach the coast. From Quilon southward, these secondary ranges soften down into undulating slopes, intersected by gorges and valleys, which grow wider as the elevation of the hills decreases, and are cultivated invariably with rice, proving very productive. Among the mountains a few rough elevated tablelands are found but the alternation of hill and valley is in most cases too rapid to allow of any large extent of level surface. The above remarks refer to the country West of the Periyar river, between which and Diadigudi a confused mass of hills. These have, however, similar characteristics, their summits, either broken into projecting cliffs, or thickly covered with trees, fall generally with precipitous abruptness, and present a variety of wild and magnificent forest scenery. These altitudes include some elevated plateaus (about one-twelfth of the whole area), which afford pasturage for cattle, and enjoy a good climate for a portion of the year. To the north, the mountains rise to an elevation of 8,000 feet, with plateaus over 7,000 feet. The more important of these is part of the group known as the Anamallays. The southernmost part of the range is the sacred Agastya's (18,000 feet) the source of the Tambraparni River. The plateaus, by reason of their good climate, rich soil, abundant timber and water-supply are likely to become better known as the demand for coffee-land increases. One plateau alone (Bhoominathur or Mandamudi Valley) is 5 miles long by 2½ miles broad, and contains about 10,000 acres of cultivation and coffee-land. Similar smaller valleys are found in the groups called the Kattamond Hills. At the head of the Travancore Hills stands Anamudi (8,857 feet), the highest peak south of the Himalayas, and near it are several other peaks, Ananthavandi and Malendragudi being important. South of this group is the lower region of the Cardamom Hills, called from their special product. Some of these peaks are large tracts of evergreen forest, with the exception of the Ashambo coffee plantations, and one or two narrow mountain passes, the main passes continue to the Achechudi River. Even south of this, although the hills become lower and narrower, the country is thinly inhabited almost to Cape Comorin. Kappadam rivers flow down from the Ghats, which, largely tortuous courses, with high banks and rocky beds, into the backwater, most of these are navigable only near the sea. The chief river of Travancore is the Periyar, rising in the high ranges, which after a course of 143 miles, enters the backwater at Kodungalore (Oranganoor), 60 miles of which after a course of 143 miles, enters the backwater at Kodungalore (Oranganoor). A portion of its enormous volume of water is now diverted into Madure by the Periyar Water Works. The Pamba and its tributary, the Achechudi, and the Kallada are the next in importance. The Western Tambraparni or, as it is locally known, the Cooilokar River, rises in the mountains to the north of Madure, a sister river of the larger Tambraparni which flows past the town of Madure, and flows westward, like all other Travancore rivers. Numerous small streams cross the narrow plain between the mountains and the sea, but no large irrigation works exist on them. The plentiful rainfall making these unnecessary, except in the extreme South. Here on the Parali and Koda, there are ancient constructions by Pandyan Kings. A succession of lagoons or backwaters, connected by navigable canals, extends along the coast from Trivandrum northwards, forming a most important means of communication. Its extreme length is nearly 200 miles, namely, from Trivandrum in British Malabar to Trivandrum, between the latter place and Quilon there is a high promontory of land about 8 miles in breadth, the highest portions of which in two places have been tunneled through to a length of over 5,000 feet and the remaining portion cut open into a canal, thus making the line of water-communication complete. The total area of these lakes is 287½ square miles, of which 157½ are in Travancore, 53½ in Cochin, and 16½ in the British Territory. The largest lake is the Vembanad (East of Alleppey) but, except during the monsoon it is shallow. A strip of land from 7 miles to about half-a-mile wide separates these backwaters from the sea. There are, however, several outlets, those at Othway, Kodungalore, Cochin, Kayamkulam, Inlay and Paravoor being the principal ones. Every kind of merchandise and a very large portion of the produce of the country is carried on these waters. There are also several good roads in the island for local traffic and the extension of the South Indian Railway to Quilon has opened up easy communication with Tanjore and Madure. The boats for water communication are of various sizes and in most instances are formed of a single tree the trunk of which is hollowed out. The ordinary size is about 20 feet by 3½ feet, the boats for carrying rice to a distance are larger and have a deck or roof. Tampakam and areally trees are generally selected for boat building being durable and amply strong. For some years past passenger traffic has been carried on by motor and steam launches which ply regularly all along back waters from Oranganoor to Quilon. For the last few years motor conveyances by road have also become very popular and it is now possible for passengers to travel by these public conveyances from Ernakulam to Cape Comorin in less than 24 hours. Alum, sulphur, lignite, plumbago and mica exist. There are plumbago mines at Nayarattikara and Nedamangal and mica mines at Ernakul. The mountains and forests of Travancore afford some of the best sport to be got anywhere in India, especially in the shape of 'large game'. Elephants, whose ivory is a source of State revenue, are numerous. Tigers, leopards (including the black variety), bears, black sambar or 'elk' and various kinds of deer abound.

Along the coast the climate is equable and damp. The temperature seldom falls below 70° and hardly ever rises above 90°. The rainfall is heavy during South west monsoon between May and August. There is an average rainfall of 86 inches in the country tracts and about 200 inches on the hills.

History.—Authentic history of Travancore in early times is extinct, but tradition has it that the Malayalam Coast was reclaimed from the sea by Parasurama and colonized by a class of Brahmins known as Nambudris whose rule after lasting for a considerable time, ended in 88 B.C. The Brahmins then elected Kathiraya chiefs to rule for periods of 12 years and this election system lasted for 4 centuries. The last and greatest of the rulers was Cherman Perumal (a deputy of Chera King). At the time of his death he divided the dominions among his vassals. For more than 2 centuries it continued under the rule of 22 vassal chiefs. The 24th was Eruma Varma Perumal, 1684—1717 A.D. After him, the reigns of his two immediate successors, were characterized by internal strife and oppression. Then came Vanki Marthanda Perumal who reigned from 1799—1814 and he conquered some places. His next successor was Vanki Bala Perumal who further extended his dominions and had a large army disciplined after European model, commanded by Portuguese, Dutch and Indian Officers. During the wars of the English with Tipu of Mysore from 1782—1793, Travancore was an ally of the English. In 1768 when Tipu invaded Mysore, the Rajah of Travancore, Raja Bala Bama Varma got alarmed and entered into an agreement with the English and secured a subsidiary force of two battalions on condition of paying £600 monthly in cash or pepper to the said amount. Tipu was defeated in his invasions with great loss, and he ceded to the Company 3 Districts belonging to the Raja, and conquered by him. By a second treaty with the Company, the Rajah got the said 3 Districts under an arrangement to pay an annual subsidy equal to the expense of 3 battalions of troops with European artillery, and he also bound himself not to enter into any engagements with European Nations without the consent of the Company, nor to give them settlements in the country. He should also use the English with troops, if necessary, the Company bearing the cost of such troops. The Raja Chelavon after, and his nephew Raja Raja Rama Varma succeeded him, and with this success a fresh treaty was concluded in 1805 by the Company with additional stringent stipulations. In 1809 the Raja allowed the subsidy to half into arrears and refused to disband the costly and expensive establishment called the "Karnatik Brigade" and consequently the English threatened his dismissal when 80,000 Rupee rope in reimbursement and threatened the ambassador's arrest. They were satisfied by the English and the Karnatik Brigade disbanded. Since then the States have enjoyed unbroken peace.

The Raja died in 1810 and Lakshmi Rani succeeded him and she Rani conducted the administration of the State to Ootachi Marthanda, the British Resident Lakshmi Rani died in 1814 leaving 3 sons and 1 daughter. Her sister Parvati Rani continued as regent till Raja Rama the eldest son of Lakshmi Rani came of age. Rama Varma reigned from 1819 for 17 years and was succeeded by his younger brother Marthanda Varma in 1836. He was succeeded by Rama Varma one of the sons of his sister who ruled from 1836 and died in 1849. His younger brother Rama Varma succeeded him. According to the custom prevailing in Malabar through succession devolves on the eldest male member in the female line. In 1861, the Raj of Cochin the then Governor-General granted a Sanad to the Maharaja authorising adoption of males to perpetuate the dynasty. He was succeeded by His Highness Sri Sri Rama Varma, & Co., who died on 7th August 1924 after a long and industrious reign of 59 years and Her Highness Sethu Lakshmi Rani, has become from 1st September 1924 the Maharani Regent of Travancore during the minority of her nephew Rama Varma who was born on 7th Nov. 1913.

Finance—The total revenue received during 1924-25, is Rs. 1,30,44,683 and the total gross expenditure is Rs. 1,06,64,455. The State has its own currency, the coins are minted in the State Mint at Travancore. The coins current are silver pieces of 2 chakrams (An. 1-1/47 British currency), 4 chakrams called the fanam; quarter of a rupee valued at 7 chakrams (An. 1-1/16 British) and half a rupee valued at 14 Chakrams, and copper pieces of 1 cash, 4 cash, 8 cash and 1 chakram valued at 16 cash. The silver coins of British India circulate freely throughout the State.

Army—The State maintains a small force of a tillery for sentinel purposes, a body-guard for the Maharaja of 61 mounted men and 1413 Infantry (Nayar Brigade) and the Maharaja is entitled to a personal salute of 21 guns.

Administration.—1 The Government of the country is conducted in the name and under the control of His Highness the Maharaja. The Dewan is his chief minister. The several Departments are constituted mostly on British Indian model. The work of legislation is entrusted to a Legislative Council formed in 1886. Regulation II of 1097 remodelling the Council on a popular and representative basis was passed on the 2nd October 1911. Under the new constitution, the Council is composed of 50 members of whom 25 are elected and 25 nominated. Women are placed on a footing of complete equality with men in the matter of both election and membership. The Dewan is the President and a Deputy President is also appointed to preside at the meetings in the absence of the President.

2 To afford to the people an opportunity of expressing direct to Government their wants and wishes and representing their views regarding the administrative measures adopted from time to time and to enable Government to learn at first hand how their actions affect the people and to have the benefit of the suggestions of the people. His Highness the Maharaja was pleased to command that an Assembly under the name of "Sri Maham Popular Assembly" should be constituted. It was constituted in October 1905 and the Assembly meets every year. The privilege of electing members to this Assembly is granted to the people. The Assembly opens with an address by the Dewan. The members are called on to make their representations and the Dewan replies in the name and on behalf of Government.

Salvation Army Southern Territory, The, the Territorial Headquarters is at Kuvavannan, Trivandrum

There are 1103 different centres with Divisional
Headquarters in ten and there are also 208
Day Schools, 3 Special Schools, One Lace and Art Needle Work Department, 3 Men's and 3
Women's Training Centres.

In addition to the ~~Medical and Educational~~ work much has been accomplished by the Medical Department which under the supervision of Dr Wm Noble, comprises of a main Hospital at Nagercoil, Osharline Booth, and seven branches at Badhapuram, Chembuvillal, Aramboly, Muttasadu, Kulathumale, Kanganah and Puthumoru.
The Doctor is a Non-Official Member of the Travancore
State Medical Board. During the past year a Dental Department was brought into being, also a Diathermy apparatus installed. An X-ray plant is now on the way out from England and thus it will be possible to conduct the Medical work on the most up-to-date lines.

Colonel Priya (Mrs Annie Thomas) is the Territorial Commander, while Lieut. Colonel Yessu Dasen is the Chief Secretary. See page 344

FRENCH TERRITORIES. PONDICHERRY

A City, Seaport, and Capital of the French Settlements in India, on the Coromandel Coast, within the South Arcot District, lying in Lat 11° 3' N, Long 79° 58' E. Languages—French and Tamil

PONDICHERRY the Capital of the French Settlements in India, and the seat of Government was purchased by the French from the Vijayanagar Raja in 1673. It is situated on a flat sandy coast south east of a long flat hill. The settlement forms part of the delta (conamooam), of the 1st mar, and a great portion of its surface is alluvial. Many artesian wells have been sunk, and excellent drinking water is obtainable. The hills known as the Montagnes Rouges form a natural girdle to the country about Pondicherry. The coast here of the settlement is about five miles, and its breadth from three to four miles. The climate is healthy. The territory is divided into eight municipalities. The total superficies of the territory is estimated at 49,000 acres which, in consequence of the parcelment is scattered over a space of about 178 IND acres.

The first French settlement was made here in 1674 under François Martin and the Genl Mon s Duplex. In 1683 it was captured by the Dutch and restored at the Peace of Breda in 1690. The town was besieged by the English unsuccessfully in 1748, but was taken by Sir F Coote in 1761 and restored in 1763. It was again captured by Sir Hector Munro in 1778 and restored in 1785. Colonel Braithwaite once more took it in 1793, and finally restored it in 1816. A very fine fort which was built 500 yards from the sea, of brick covered with polished white plaster, was demolished by Sir Eyre Coote in 1761. Down to the middle of the last century Pondicherry was the finest city in India.

The city now extends along the sea coast about a mile and a quarter and is about three-quarters of a mile in breadth. The town is regularly built and is divided into two parts, the White town and the Black town, separated by a canal. The White town is by the sea side. Its streets are regularly laid out and cut each other at right angles, and the houses are well built. There is a fine Pier 850 metres long Government House, a handsome building situated to the North of the Palace Duplex is within 800 yards of the sea, near a fine statue of Duplex, inscribed 'to all the glories of France,' which is on a handsome pedestal of Gungee stone. The town has no port, but an open roadstead, which being to windward for nine months of the year, and having less surf, is superior to that at Madras. But in consequence of the small depth of water near the shore and the violence of the surf, landing can be effected only by flat-bottomed boats constructed for the purpose. There are three hotels, and a fully furnished Travellers bungalow near the Railway Station which is maintained by a native gentleman. Travellers enroute in this house for three days free of charge, but must make their own arrangements regarding food etc., with the servants. The usual mode of conveyance is the poissade poissade, a sort of bath chair yokes and carts are also procurable.

The British India Co's Negapatam and Rangoon steamers call weekly, and the same Co's Madras and Singapore boats once a fortnight, the Messageries and Assam Co's steamers touch at the Port every alternate week. Pondicherry is the seat of an Archbishop, and the headquarters of the French Roman Catholic Mission, there is a fine Cathedral dedicated to Notre Dame des Anges. There is a Circle (Club) for Europeans, and others for natives. Pondicherry is the terminus of the Villupuram Pondicherry branch of the South Indian Railway. The city and environs contain many fine houses in the European style, and the high culture of the soil, the numerous canals crossed by neatly constructed bridges, and roads planted with trees, give to the surrounding district the appearance of a great garden.

Three miles south of Pondicherry is the village of Veerampattinam where is an ancient and interesting temple to the goddess Sargaleswami (an Avatar of Kali) which attracts many pilgrims from all over South India. Four miles south at Ariyakuppam is a very old Roman Catholic Church

SAFETY AND SERVICE—complete and absolute safety of investments and efficient and sympathetic service to its Policyholders—are among the distinguishing features of the UNITED INDIA

THE UNITED INDIA is a Madras Company with an All-India reputation. In the opinion of an eminent critic of another Province, the UNITED INDIA is "one of the strongest, soundest, best-managed, and most economically conducted Life Institutions."

Prompt settlement of claims, careful management, prudent conservation of funds, liberal and equitable Policy conditions, moderate premiums combined with substantial bonuses and other attractive features make the UNITED INDIA the ideal Life Office for the insuring public.

THE UNITED INDIA is practically the only Life Insurance Company in the whole of Southern India specially established for the purpose of providing insurance service to the South Indian public particularly, and it is the Company's aim and constant endeavour to render always such service most efficiently and sympathetically.

RAMANUJATHI K., Prof. & Nov 1893 in Veeraghatnam in the Vizianagaram District. Educ., Maharaja's College, Vizianagaram. When young, though sickly, he evinced a keen interest in physical exercise, and athletics. Became a teacher of physical culture in a local school, and later on joined a Circus group of which he became the manager. In 1905 he challenged Eugene Sandow in Madras but his challenge was refused. Having realised that the cultivation and exhibition of physical power which he possessed was really a profession by itself he prepared for it and gave the first public exhibition under the patronage of Lord Amthill, and a month later he repeated his performances before Their Majesties King George V and Queen Mary, who were then touring India as the Prince and Princess of Wales, and who presented him with a gold medal as a token of their appreciation. He has toured with his Circus not only over India, but also in the East and Europe where the Press acclaimed him as a modern Hercules before whom Sandow, Samson and others were eclipsed. He has made many lakhs by his profession and also given away much to charities and other institutions of public utility. He retired from his profession in 1925 in the heat of health, and has been devoting his attention and energy to the problem of improving the health and physique of the Indian youth by organising a physical culture institution in Bombay and also to organise Olympic games. He bases his training on the ancient system of Indian Physical Culture which simultaneously develops mind, body and soul unlike the western methods which only temporarily develop the muscles and give the body a bulky frame. During his tour he came in contact with several Mahatmas or Siddhagurus from whom he learnt many things relating to spiritual culture. He has contributed about Rs. 60,000 to the war fund. RAMA VARMA, His Highness Sir Roca, G.C.I.E., the Maharaja of Cochin, b. 6th October 1883. Particular care was bestowed on his Highness' early education. Of studious habits from the very beginning he pursued his Sanskrit and English studies assiduously and attained a high degree of proficiency in both. Besides, His Highness has acquired a deep knowledge of 'Ashtangahridayam', the national medical system to which his knowledge of Sanskrit specially fitted him, specialising in the treatment of hydrophobia, snakebite etc. His Highness has been ever prompt in placing the benefit of his special knowledge and skill in this direction at the disposal of patients brought to him and it was only when he became the Raja or he is apparent that he had for want of time to reluctantly give up this humanitarian work. In 1908, His Highness was crowned by V. K. Parulatti Amma of the well known Kuruppan family of Trichur. His Highness' domestic life has ever been one of unalloyed happiness. His Highness Raja Sir Roca Rama Varma, G.C.I.E., having abdicated and retired in private life, His Highness ascended the throne on the 1st January 1916. To gain experience and widen his outlook on administrative affairs, His Highness toured throughout the length and breadth of India on two occasions visiting at the same time several important places of historic and religious interest. The distinction of G.C.I.E. was conferred on His Highness on the occasion of His Majesty The King, Emperor's Birthday and the hereditary title of "Maharaja" was for the first time conferred upon the ruler of the State in the year 1921. The Administration Reports of the State for successive years bear testimony to His Highness' administrative work and the love and esteem in which His Highness is held show how popular a ruler His Highness is.

What the Advertisement Manager, Messrs Wilson Watch Co, Asian Building, Ballard Estate Bombay, writes under date Sept 20 1926

'We have now reviewed the results of our advertising carefully in your province and are very pleased to mention that our advertisements in your paper brought us orders in large numbers by every post. These orders have come from the remotest parts of the Presidency and from good class customers. This evidently confirms your statement about the very large circulation and pulling power of The Hindu. We regard that advertising in your paper is profitable provided the articles are rightly priced and are of public utility'
